STREET POST FIELD GROWS

H. W. McSherry Is Unopposed As Filings Climaxed

Commissioner of Finance H. W. McSherry sailed by without opposition yesterday while Ward 3 jurymen L. B. Pettit came out as a last-minute candidate against Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez.

Unless additional candidates turn up today via mail, McSherry will be the only unopposed incumbent in City Hall for the May 14th elections. Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, who has three opponents, did not pick up any more opposition when 5 p.m. qualifying deadline ended yesterday. Rodriguez now has three opponents.

MEET TODAY

Meantime, the City Democratic Executive Committee will meet at 9 a.m. today in the courthouse to qualify candidates who filed.

Chairman George H. Strong said yesterday the field was closed unless a candidate filed via mail, in which case the postmark must read before 5 p.m., March 18.

While McSherry's post got most attention yesterday, the City School Board campaign failed to attract any more candidates. Fourteen candidates already had filed.

Six are in the race for the City Democratic Executive Committee, since James R. Williams, an incumbent, filed yesterday.

Pettit, a rumored candidate for several days, filed against Rodriguez. At present, he is one of three Ward 3 representatives on the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

There had been reports too that McSherry was likely to get opposition. In fact, William B. Jackson, an insurance salesman who was in the race four years ago with McSherry, stood outside Strong's office until five minutes.

W. Woods Jr. Enters Board Post Contest

Wayne Woods Jr., Monroe oilman and rancher, yesterday formally announced his candidacy for the Monroe City School Board. Woods, a native of Monroe, was educated in the city school system and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. He is a board member and past president of the NLSC Booster Club.

He is vice president of the Crescent Drilling Company, Crescent Production Company and Harway Producers, Inc. In addition, Woods owns and operates a horse and cattle ranch.

BACKGROUND

He is a member of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, Monroe Jaycees, Monroe Recreation Board and is president-elect of the Twin Cities YMCA.

Woods is a deacon of the St. John's Christian Church.

"The schools of Monroe are vital to its continued growth and prosperity," Wood's statement read. "It is my considered judgment that the Monroe City Schools should at all times work toward quality education. If our nation is to survive in the world of 1960, we must produce well-educated, aggressive young people."

"The first requisite of quality education is quality teachers. In order that the teachers shall have the proper incentive in their work, I believe very strongly in good salaries for them. A teacher needs the proper environment in order to achieve maximum results; therefore, I believe they should be protected from political vindictiveness by a strong tenure law."

"I am dedicated to the principle."

Seven Children Hurt In Wreck

LORETTO, Ky. (UPI) — A switch engine pulling a caboose on a distillery siding struck a school bus carrying 36 children Friday, injuring seven of the children seriously.

The bus had stopped on a curve at the crossing on route to St. Francis parochial school, then went on across the track but was struck in the rear by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad engine.

Listed in serious condition at a hospital in Lebanon, Ky., were Christine Hutchins, 12; Katherine Ballard, 13; Lena Gayle Ballard, 10; Garland Thompson, 10; Michael Louis Dant, 13; Joseph D. Hamilton, 7; and Janet Marie Ballard, 10.

Cuban Envoy Will Return To His Post Castro Officials Say They Have 'No Charges'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department announced Friday night that Ambassador to Cuba Philip Bonsal will return to his post in Havana "at an early date" as the result of assurances by the Castro government that it has "no charges" against him.

Bonsal was recalled from his post and returned to Washington Jan. 23 after Cuban government officials and the semi-official newspaper "Revolucion" charged that he was conspiring with anti-Castro elements in Cuba and the United States.

Official sources said Bonsal probably will return to Cuba next week, although no specific date has yet been selected.

ASSURANCE

They said assurances from the Cuban government that it had no conspiracy charges against the ambassador came before the United States delivered a note of protest to Cuba last week against actions and statements by Premier Fidel Castro and others.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) joined Smathers in protesting the possibility of Bonsal's return. He said he couldn't understand "why this nation has to appease Castro" and declared: "here's a fellow who would drink our blood."

Several Republicans spoke up to advocate "caution" in the Cuban situation.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) urged against striking out against an "immature leader" who happens to be in power at the moment. The United States should not be panicked by "the bogey man with the beard," Hickenlooper said.

Salary Cut Asked For Teachers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. John Patterson urged Alabama schoolteachers Friday to accept a 10 per cent salary cut to ease a state fiscal crisis.

A mass walkout of teachers from classrooms has been threatened if salaries are cut. Patterson, addressing the Alabama Education Assn. here, said "I feel that if teachers walk out it will be a big mistake and will not serve the cause of education."

Patterson's address followed one by state Superintendent of Education Frank Stewart who said "I cannot go along with, nor be a party to, any plan whereby teachers' salaries are reduced in the most prosperous times we have ever known."

Stewart's speech, calling on the governor and the Legislature to provide answers to the crisis without pinching the teachers, drew a standing ovation from more than 5,000 teachers and superintendents.

The audience was subdued when Patterson said he does not feel that calling a special legislative session would solve the problem.

"Even if I did call one there would be no assurance that you would get the money," he said.

He said that even with a 10 per cent prororation of teacher salaries.

MANY DRIVEN FROM HOMES Rising Floodwater Plagues Florida

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Rising floodwaters across central Florida drove at least 300 more persons from their homes Friday and new storms hit the southern end of the peninsula.

A tornado-like twister demolished two trailers, damaged others and wiped out a $30,000 flower crop south of Fort Myers. Fort Myers felt 70-mile an hour winds and quarter-inch hailstones.

One person was injured at Fort Myers and the winds tore away part of the roof of an automobile agency and flung it onto the courthouse lawn.

In central Florida, the downpours from four days of storms diminished but floodwaters rose steadily. Hundreds of residents sandbagged their homes and crews tried to plug a breach in a flood control levee at Tampa. Rising water covered cars and sloped through doors and windows of houses in low-lying sections.

Overall damage was in the millions. At least four deaths were blamed on the freakish weather. The cloudbursts left several major highways and many secondary roads closed in eight central Florida counties.

A three-square-mile area of Tampa was covered by a lake overflow and the crest of the flood was not expected until Sunday morning. Some 300 persons were evacuated from the north Tampa area.

In Orlando, some 60 families were forced to evacuate a west-side subdivision because of rising water which was flowing through first floor windows.

Red Cross Director Ernest Knight said seepage caused water to continue to rise. "More people may have to leave," he said.

Teams Slated To Probe For Bomb Evidence

TELL CITY, Ind. (UPI) — Federal aviation detectives and FBI agents studied shattered scraps of metal Friday night for clues on whether a bomb or other sabotage exploded an airliner and killed 63 persons.

Investigative teams organized by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) also pored over reports of violent air turbulence over southern Indiana at about the time a Northwest Orient Electra turboprop disintegrated in the air and smashed to earth Thursday.

The first day of investigation proceeded slowly because of the complete destruction of the new, $2,400,000 passenger plane. Its wreckage was scattered up to eight miles from the point where the plane's fuselage burrowed into a 50-foot crater and exploded.

MORASS

As the crater turned into a muddy morass, CAB experts decided to rely on a steam shovel Saturday to poke gingerly into the wreckage.

But if the steam shovel can find nothing but fragmentary bits and pieces of the plane, CAB spokesman Edward Slattery said, it will be removed and other methods tried.

The crash — the third Electra smashup in little more than a year and the third unexplained airliner disaster in four months — raised demands for legislation and thorough investigations from Washington. The disaster came less than a week before scheduled Washington hearings on the mystery crash of a National Airlines plane in which 34 persons died near Bolivia, N.C.

Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) flew to the crash site in a helicopter, surveyed the carnage, and

De Gaulle Sets Storm Rolling On Farm Crisis

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle touched off a parliamentary storm Friday by rejecting the demand of a majority of the National Assembly for a special session on France's farm crisis.

Angry deputies accused de Gaulle of violating the Fifth Republic's constitution. Leftists threatened censure action against his hand-picked government, headed by Premier Michel Debre, in the regular session opening April 26.

A total of 287 deputies—10 more than half of the Assembly's membership—had signed a petition calling for a special session to debate the government's agricultural price-fixing policy, which farmers charge is forcing them toward bankruptcy.

PROVIDES

The constitution provides that the assembly may be convoked by the executive or by a vote of more than half the assembly members. However, in either case the decree must have the president's signature.

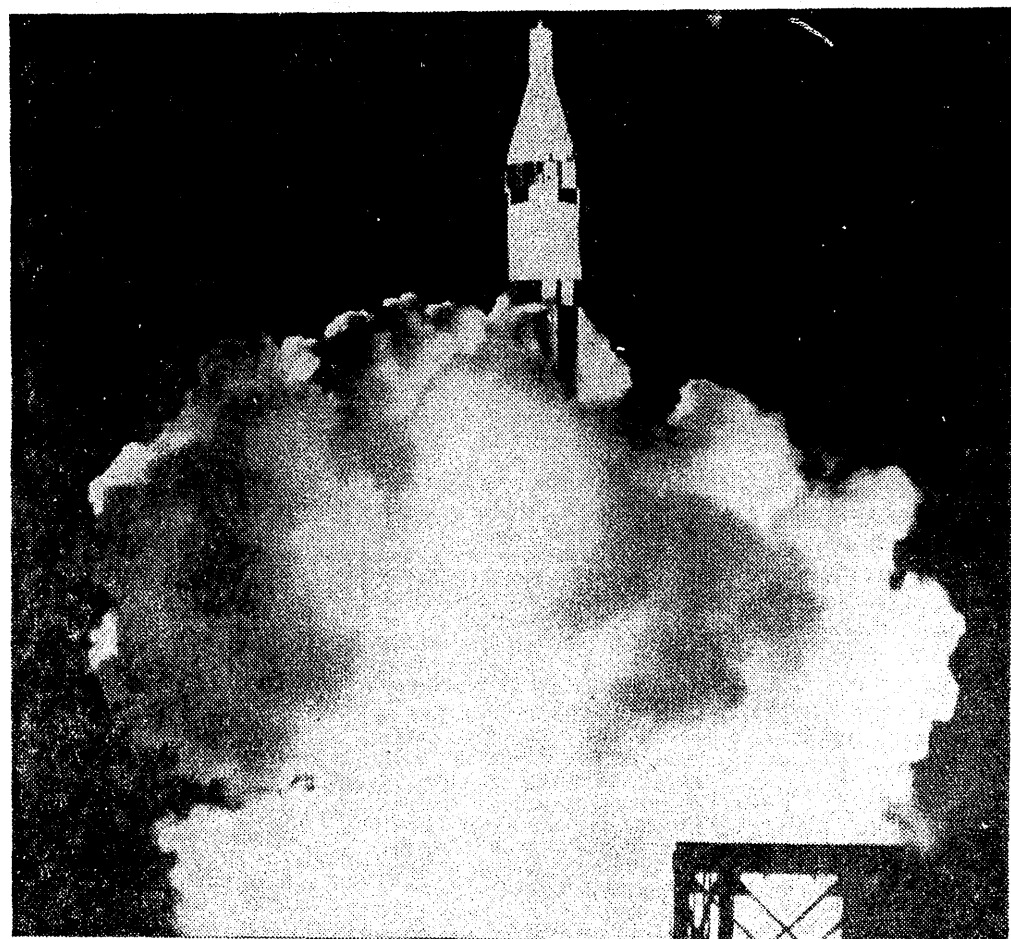

De Gaulle explained in a letter to Assembly Speaker Jacques Chaban-Delmas why he does not consider the executive bound to act. It left some deputies almost speechless with rage and infuriated the farmers' leaders.

S'port Man Dies Of Injuries

BATON ROUGE (AP) — F. H. Conley, 34, a year-old prominent Shreveport businessman died of injuries suffered in a head-on collision on Airline Highway.

Police said Conley was driving north in the southbound lane Thursday night when his car collided with another car driven by 31-year-old Maxwell Evans, of Prairieville. Evans was injured.

Conley had just pulled out of a roadside restaurant when the accident happened. Conley was co-owner of the Red River Construction Co. and the Caddo Machines Co. He was also secretary-treasurer of the Rio Construction Co. All of the firms are located in Shreveport.

Plane Crash Narrowly Averted

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Northwest Airlines officials said Friday night a Boeing strato-cruiser with 73 persons aboard dove 300 feet Friday over Lansing, Mich., to avoid hitting what were believed to be two military jets.

Airline officials said one passenger suffered a strained neck and a stewardess, identified as Sherry Carter, sustained a wrenched back when the giant airliner plunged sharply from an altitude of 16,000 feet.

FLIGHT

The plane, a New York to Minneapolis non-stop flight, continued on its route and landed later at Minneapolis. The near collision occurred about 7:30 p.m. e.s.t., airline officials said.

Among the 67 passengers was Morris C. Chalfen, whose wife and three children, were killed Thursday when a Northwest Electra airliner exploded over Tell City, Ind., killing all 63 persons aboard.

Friday's near collision occurred about 500 miles north of Tell City, airline officials said. The four-engine airliner was flying at its regular air wave route like a highway in the sky at 16,000 feet over Lansing, a Northwest spokesman said, and had air traffic control clearance from Minneapolis.

The spokesman said the Boeing made a "diving right turn to avoid what were believed to be two military type jets flying close formation."

He said the jets were heading "right at the plane at the same altitude."

Spring Signals Appear Locally

Spring's official start on Monday has been getting a strong boost the last day or two from warming temperatures and sunny skies, and the weatherman says the same conditions may be expected tomorrow.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are forecast for today and tomorrow, with slightly warmer temperatures expected across the state. Yesterday's high was 59, low was 30.

In Arkansas, warming temperatures and partly cloudy skies are expected across the state today and tomorrow, with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Deadline Today For Ouachita's Voters Signup

Ouachita Parish residents have until noon today to register to vote in both the statewide general election on April 19, and the Monroe election May 14.

Mrs. Mae Lucky, Registrar of Voters, said yesterday that her office will be open from 8 a.m. to 12 noon today.

Registration takes place on the second floor of the parish Courthouse, located in the 300 block of St. John Street.

At 12 noon, registration books will close. They will reopen on May 16, the Monday after the city election.

According to state law, books must close 30 days prior to an election.

Since the 30-days before May 14 will begin during the "closed" period prior to general election day, registration books will have a lengthy "holiday."

NEGRO SITDOWNS

8 Demonstrators Choose Jail Term

By United Press International Eight Negro lunch counter demonstrators chose 60 day jail sentences instead of fines as "sacrificial lambs" in Tallahassee, Fla., Friday.

Len Holt of Norfolk, Va., a field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), said his group hoped the decisions to go to jail would set a pattern for other anti-segregation demonstrators.

"The impact can only be felt by people suffering unjustifiably, and we are encouraging those who can undergo the hardships to offer themselves as sacrificial lambs," he said.

City Judge John Rudd who convicted 11 Negro student demonstrators on charges of disturbing the peace gave the defendants the choice of paying $300 fines or going to jail for 60 days. The Rev. C.K. Steele, whose son was among those jailed, said the eight students themselves chose jail. Three paid fines.

Holt said the encouragement was CORE's policy south-wide, and said it could fill southern jails with sitdown demonstrators.

"This movement is bigger than any of the people or the organizations assisting the people and the effort is not designed to put anyone out of business," he said, "but to put justice into business."

"The legal procedures, appeals, and counter appeals seem to have little bearing, little effect on the moral conscience of those in the South who's hearts have been conditioned to denying to Negro citizens the same measure, the same equality afforded all citizens."

Three of the Negroes paid their $300 fines. They were Mary O. Gaines, 43, Merritt Spaulding, 21,

Lie Detector Tests May Be Given

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — "Three fairly good suspects" have been found in the slaying of three suburban Chicago socialites, the head of the Illinois state police said Friday night.

But Supt. William Morris told newsmen that there had been no arrests or pickups ordered. He said the men might be given lie detector tests.

One of the suspects, Morris said, is a truck driver who drives a vehicle similar to one witnesses reported seeing parked Monday alongside a trail leading down to St. Louis Canyon in Starved Rock State Park.

BODIES

The women's bodies, battered and showing signs of rape, were found Wednesday in a shallow cave in the towering canyon. The women had been missing since Monday after checking into a lodge which overlooks the rolling 1,475-acre year-round recreation area.

Morris said some twine was found in the truck and was sent to a laboratory in Springfield. Two of the victims had pieces of twine or cord tied about their wrists.

The second man, Morris reported, was one of the lodge's 62 employees. The third lives in the vicinity of the park but has not been located, Morris added.

The three victims, wives of Chicago business executives, lived in Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

They were Frances Murphy, 47, whose husband, Robert, is vice president and general counsel for Borg-Warner Corp.; Lilian Oetting, 50, wife of George, an Illinois Bell Telephone Co. executive; and Mildred Lindquist, 50, wife of Robert, a vice president

Israeli Premier Wants To Talk With Khrush

LONDON (AP) — Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion was reported Friday night to have asked Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev a month ago for personal talks to help the quest for a Middle East settlement.

But the Soviet Premier, wooing the Arab states, has not yet answered, qualified informants said.

The white-haired Jewish statesman himself told a news conference he would like to see Khrushchev soon.

He explained he has seen President Eisenhower, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in the last two weeks. He also is planning an official visit to French President Charles de Gaulle, expected in June.

The Arab countries have criticized Eisenhower, Adenauer and Macmillan for receiving Ben-Gurion, their sworn foe.

A two-fold purpose of Ben-Gurion's talks in the United States and Britain emerged from his news conference remarks and from diplomatic officials:

1. He wanted to learn just where the Western powers stand in relation to Middle East problems in advance of their mid-May summit meeting with Khrushchev.

2. He wanted the Western leaders to understand just how Israeli sees the Middle East scene.

Ben-Gurion was understood to have argued the case for some sort of East-West truce in the supply of arms to Middle East nations. He would like an immediate disarmament pact in the region, complete with control and inspection.

While the Democrats were attracting a crowded field, the Republicans received a light turn out of candidates for their City Executive Committee.
Five candidates filed for the five-man post — Lawrence H. Fox, Edward B. Ellison, Mrs. A. C. Pappas, James L. Ewing III, and Elmer C. Slage. Only incumbent not to seek re-election was Mrs. Mary Faulk Flournoy.

CAB Dr. Carl Wilbur told Harkie the Indiana St. Patrick's day crash caused the worst fragmentation of bodies the physician had ever seen — even worse than the explosion of a Braniff Electra near Buffalo, Tex., last September in which 33 persons about 10 died.
For the dead in the latest disaster, grocery bags took the place of one of the coffins.
State troopers had the grim task of collecting all that was Joseph Fleet of the bodies from the wreckage, blood, smoked crater, most of twenty-seven of the brown paper bags were taken to a makeshift morgue in a Cannelton, Ind., gymnasium where FBI agents were trying to make identifications through fingerprints.
Investigators hesitated to theorize on what could have blown the airplane apart on its apparent routine flight from Chicago into Miami. They spoke of the possibility of "mental fatigue," which has been responsible for the crashes of other high speed airliners. They also considered the possibility of a man-made agency which crashed the plane.

Cuban Envoy Will Return To His Post

Two developments this week set the stage for the Senate debate:
—President Eisenhower asked Congress to give him stand-by authority to revise U.S. sugar-buying quotas for foreign countries. This could be used if Cuba failed to provide the sugar called for under the program.
—Three more Cuban officials have severed their ties with Castro's government. Two of them — Lt. Comdr. Miguel Pons, Naval and Prescott Bush (R-Conn.) also attached at the Cuban embassy here, and Capt. Angel Saavedra, military and air attaché — have asked for asylum in this country.

NOTES DEFECTIONS
Smathers noted the three defections in his speech. He said the Castro government is "obviously a dictatorship in every respect" and is "following exactly and identically the same kind of government they have in the Soviet Union."
In response to a question by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Smathers said he was not advocating breaking off diplomatic relations with Cuba.
But he said Bonsal should remain in Washington and the U.S. continue to be represented in Havana by a charge d'affaires.
The State Department said that the Cuban government, in addition to disassociating itself from any conspiracy charges made by any individuals, has advised the United States "that opinions expressed in the newspaper 'Revolucion' are not to be considered as having an official character."
The department said that in view of these assurances, and because of the importance which the United States "attaches to making every possible constructive contribution to the conduct of our relations" with Cuba, Bonsal "is being instructed to return to Havana at an early date."
The State Department took the action in the face of charges by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) that it was "capitulating" to Castro. Smathers made the charge on the Senate floor before the department announcement but after he had conferred with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.
Smathers demanded that Congress block Bonsal's return. He said sending Bonsal back would be an act that "will live to haunt us" and "the worst capitulation we could ever engage in in the Western Hemisphere."
However, a number of republicans advocated a go-slow approach in the Cuban controversy. They said it would be best not to talk too much at this time.
American officials said the atmosphere of Cuban-American relations has improved somewhat in conversations held by the U. S. Charge d'affaires, Daniel M. Braddock, and other American officials with Cuban authorities in recent days.

Photographs of two smiling women—Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Linguist—just before their death, were obtained from film in a blood-stained camera owned by one of the victims. State's Atty. Harland Warren of LaSalle County said the photographs pinpointed the immediate area outside the cave as the place where the women were attacked and slain.
Investigators sought known fur poachers in the area for questioning on the possibility the women may have surprised some trappers who killed the women to keep them quiet.
A motorist found a pair of green fatigue trousers on a road north of the park. A partially burned army fatigue jacket was discovered along a road 10 miles from the park. Both objects were sent to a lab for examination.
Sheriff Roy Eutsey sought again to find a traveling minister who apparently took photographs near St. Louis Canyon about the time the slayings occurred. Eutsey said the minister, the Rev. A. W. Helfin of the Church of the Open

She extracted the dollar from the machine and returned to the wash.

An instant later she got another shock, the machine suddenly flashed up with a half dollar.
Later Mrs. Tharp declared that she must have left this sum of money in the pocket of her dress that was washed in the machine, but some who heard the yarn declared: "I always knew the Lord will provide!"

In the first place, I am not interested personally in any job whatsoever in the City Hall. I served 23 years as City Plumbing Inspector, starting under the supervision of the Honorable Arnold Bernstein and then came Harvey Benoit and George Breese and the Honorable John Coon. I was under John Coon's supervision for 6 years and it was a great pleasure to work with him.

After 23 years of service, I was pushed out of office the same as a farmer would have driven a skunk out of his chicken house and I want all the citizens of Monroe to know that I am going behind Chief Peters for Mayor unless a better man comes up and I don't think that is possible.

DISTRICT COURT

Two Sentenced To State Prison

Two men were sentenced to the state penitentiary yesterday during an all-day session of Fourth District Court.

Judge David I. Garrett sentenced William Sadler Butler, 43 of Venice, Calif., to six years for theft of $207.55, and two-years each on thefts of $40, $20 and $20, and two years each on four counts of jumping bail.

All his terms will run concurrently. Butler posed as a salesman for labor publication advertisements and bilked local residents of the amounts listed.

SENTENCED

George Stephenson, 47, of 310 Woodrow St., West Monroe, was sentenced to one-year concurrent terms on each of two charges: theft of $131.52 and issuing a worthless check for $30.

Stephenson sold insurance policies on the American Security Life Insurance Co., but failed to pass on premium payments to the company.

O. Z. Hicks, 23, of 3701 Jackson St., charged with theft of $49.41 from the Slagg Oil Co., 3800 Jackson, was given a suspended two-year jail term and placed on supervised probation.

Hicks, who was employed at the oil company, first told police that he was robbed of the money.

Uriah Johnson Jr., 29, Negro of Route 1, Box 23, Richwood Road, Monroe, pled guilty to forgery and was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Roy S. Hicks, 41 alias Tim Hicks of West Monroe, was sentenced to one year in the Ouachita parish jail for indecent behavior with a juvenile.

Johnnie Dalene Howe, 37, of 2302 Jonesboro Rd., West Monroe, also charged with indecent behavior with a juvenile, was sentenced to six months in jail, from the date of his arrest.

After a lengthy trial, Mrs. Jewell Frost, 23 of 1503 Ammon St., West Monroe was found guilty of theft of $19 worth of clothing.

She was remanded for sentencing, and is still charged with two other counts of clothing theft.

Nine men, including two second offenders, were fined for driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages.

Listed as second offenders, and fined $400 or 90 days, plus 125 days compulsory in jail, were: James E. Cole, 37, General Delivery, Farmerville, and Gene L. Skipper, 39, Route 2, Box 429, West Monroe.

Glynn Archibald Jr., 31, Belleville, Ill., Walter Bell, Negro, 42, 612 Phillips St., West Monroe, James S. Parrott, 24, 200 Ouachita Ave., West Monroe, Mitchell Harris Jr., 24, Negro, Box 63, Calhoun, Clarence Dwain Pullen, 18, Route 3 off Crossett Road, Bastrop and Gladys S. Thomas, 31, Box 517, Taylor Avenue, Sterlington each were fined $300 or 60 days for driving on the driving offense.

Jack L. Hulson, 37, Route 3, Box 201A, West Monroe was fined $400 or 90 days.

CHARGED

J. W. Godfrey, 35, Negro, 800 Beverly St., changed his plea to guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages and was remanded under same bond to April 4.

Miss Thomas also is due for trial on May 27 on a speeding charge.

Charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages were:

1. James R. Kelly, 26, 302 Hazewood Dr., West Monroe, also charged with speeding and driving without a license, trial June 10.

2. Junious C. Lewis, 42, 907 Trenton St., West Monroe, charged as a second offender, and also with driving with improper lights and after his driver's license was revoked, trial May 27.

3. William B. Sims, 42, 113 Blanks St., West Monroe, also charged with resisting an officer and driving without a chauffeur's license, trial June 10.

4. William A. Woods, 57, P. O. Box 263, Butler, Ala., trial June 10.

5. James E. French, 25, 508 1/2 S. Vienna St., Ruston, trial June 10.

6. Paul R. Howard, 49, 5516 De-Siard Rd., trial June 24.

7. Huey P. Roberts, 27, Start, called on bond when he failed to appear for arraignment.

8. Jesse E. Tolbird, 61, Route 1, Eros, trial June 17.

9. Henry W. Borsch, 31, 303 Azalea Dr., also charged with driving after his driver's license was revoked, Trial was set for yesterday but continued without date.

10. James H. Cotton, 40, 106 Cortez St., West Monroe, charged as a second offender, trial slated yesterday, but continued to May 2.

11. Harold E. Cummings, 53, Parkview Cafe, Highway 80, Vicksburg, Miss., called on bond when he failed to appear for trial.

12. Lee Heaphy, 57, 2150 Barksdale Blvd., Bossier City, trial continued from yesterday to April 29.

13. Arthur H. Harper, 41, Box 45, Collinston, trial continued without date.

CHARGED

Three young men charged with criminal damage to property pled innocent, and trial was set for May 27.

Jackie Ray Sims, 19, Bancroft Street, West Monroe, Marshall Wright, 23, Brown Street, West Monroe and Tommy Clampt, 1410 Hinton St., West Monroe each denied tearing out a commode at the Little Club.

Joe Lee Bell, Negro, Route 3, Lillie denied theft of $9.50 from T. L. McClung of McClungs

House Kills Dixie Drive On Referees

WASHINGTON (AP) —

The Eisenhower administration's civil rights program weathered storms in both the Senate and House Friday.

The House, by a teller vote of 137-134, rejected a Southern-backed drive to exempt state and local elections from the proposal for court-appointed voting referees. Members are not recorded by name on a teller vote.

In the Senate, a move to substitute presidentially appointed registrars for the referee plan was turned back on a 53-24 roll-call vote.

The Senate move was sparked by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), who contended the plan for court referees to insure the right of Negroes to register and vote without discrimination would prove "almost completely ineffective."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), quarterbacking the administration program, torpedoed the Douglas amendment with a successful motion to table and thus kill it.

Dirksen, the Republican floor leader, said he was willing to give the president great powers but added that there has "got to be some review of his authority."

He said the Douglas proposal would displace state machinery on a "bare finding by the president" and would provide no opportunity for a state official to seek a court review.

Under the administration plan which Dirksen sponsored, voting referees could be appointed only after a U.S. district court judge found that a pattern or practice of discrimination prevailed in the area.

Douglas' amendment was based on a recommendation by the Civil Rights Commission of last September calling for appointment by the president of federal registrars. However, where the commission plan would have applied only to federal elections, Douglas broadened the proposal to include state and local elections as well.

The House, after refusing to limit its referee plan to federal elections, recessed until Monday when a vote on the referee proposal itself may be reached.

The proposal to restrict the voting referees' jurisdiction to federal elections was denounced as sheer sanctimony by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Rep. Harmer H. Budge (R-

Idaho), who sponsored the amendment with Southern support, argued vainly that the Constitution never intended the federal government to police all elections, "even those as to whether dogs should be kept on leash."

from Massachusetts knows how to make gains by holding his tongue.

The dual support netted Kennedy re-election to the Senate with a plurality of 78.6 percent of the votes, the largest of any candidate from either party in the history of Massachusetts.

One of Kennedy's most spectacular maneuvers has somehow grown into a lasting impression that he "stood up" to the labor bosses in 1959 by steering passage of the Kennedy-Ervin labor reform bill, a measure which contained provisions offensive to organized labor.

But the Senate record also shows that Kennedy helped strip the bill of its "offensive" provisions before it came to a final vote.

At another crucial moment in the Senate's history—when Senator Joe McCarthy was up for censure in 1954—all members of the body except Kennedy and Wiley of Wisconsin who could not be present when the motion came to a vote left word as to how they wished to be recorded.

Under questioning five years later, Kennedy finally said openly he would have voted for censure. Had he made this position known as late as 1958, he may have lost many of the conservative votes in his home state where McCarthy was looked upon with favor in many quarters.

Kennedy's two-edged sword, labeled both "conservative" and "liberal," has worked well for him in hacking his image into a national figure. But sooner or later someone is going to call for a look at the record. For here Kennedy and Humphrey are seen in a similar light with a "liberal" glow.

Prophets, Soothsayers
No Present Calculations About November Election Can Exclude Castro; Might Try To Use Mig

The world is full of prophets, tipsters, pundits and soothsayers. They all know what is to happen. In general terms, it is possible to have some idea of what may happen. For instance, we know that unless we are destroyed by an H-bomb or a rocket, next November 3, an election will take place for a president of the United States and that there will be two major candidates and that one will be elected. Nobody has been nominated yet but there are already prophets who are ready to say who will be elected.

Bernard M. Baruch, who has done well for himself by being correct at the right time, said way back in 1955:

"No one, not even the most experienced trader, economist or business man can predict with certainty the course of the stock market. Whether stocks rise or fall is determined by innumerable forces and elements, by economic conditions, the actions of governments, the state of international affairs, the emotions of people—even the vagaries of the weather."

The prophets are really gamblers. They fail to take into account the imponderables which are so important politically. For instance, Castro is a nuisance beyond his means in 1960 because it is an election year. There is no telling what such a man will do, particularly if he gets hold of a Mig. No present calculations about the November election can exclude Castro.

Baruch was talking about the stock market, the ups and downs of which rarely prove anything. But the same is true of any isolated factors which in themselves may be startling but not conclusive. Sputnik scared a great many Americans livid. Some of them even began to study Russian, perhaps to be able to say, "Good morning!" to their conquerors. Actually, we have done as well as the Russians have in this particular race. It is not very important whether we or they are ahead. Sooner or later, every country will manufacture bombs, missiles, rockets and other means of devastation and then halt to realize that thus far, all these weapons exist and have not been used. Talk is still the principal weapon of diplomacy and war.

DR. STEINCROHN
Scared Patient
Many Who Suffer From Heart Ailments Need Sedatives

Probably you hear a lot about such drugs as digitalis, nitroglycerine, quinine, etc., in the treatment of heart diseases. Without question they are important. These drugs, and many more, have their specific indications.

But one thing doctors are beginning to realize is this: at least 4 out of 5 heart patients live in anxiety. That's a high "failing" way of saying they're plain scared. And why shouldn't they be? You don't have to be a hypochondriac to admit you want to live as long as you can.

This being true, there's room for another group of drugs in the management of heart disease. Call them sedatives if they are on the bromide or phenobarbital family; call them tranquilizers if they are drugs like Equanil or Miltown.

When Mr. Smith comes down with a coronary thrombosis we tell him not to overexert when he is up and about. But we should also tell him not to overemotionalize. Because emotional overexertion, in addition to his heart as physical overexertion. That goes for any type of heart trouble: real or imaginary.

Take the patient with angina pectoris. Give him sedatives or tranquilizers in addition to his other medicine, and he will have fewer attacks. (This is especially true if he is a scared patient.)

Consider the patient who has a few heart skips or palpitation. His heart is organically normal; nevertheless, he thinks he's dying. Give him sedatives, and he, too, will feel much better. There's no question that sedatives are important drugs in treating heart disease.

COMMENT: To allay your anxiety, send for my leaflet: "May Be Your Heart Trouble's Imaginary." Enclose 10 cents in a stamped, self-addressed envelope and write to me, c/o this newspaper.

Daily Devotional

For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all. — James 2:10.

If any part of an automobile fails the whole car is useless. In like manner, the person who breaks one Commandment becomes a sinner and is guilty of breaking the whole law. Perfection comes only through sinlessness and, knowing this was impossible for the sons of Adam, God sent His Son to die for our transgressions. Thus, we can become blameless under the laws of God. But we are nevertheless expected to strive for perfection after we accept Christ and His Salvation.

Heavenly Father, though we accept Christ's atonement for our sins, help us to be worthy of His sacrifice. In His holy name we ask. Amen.

Kind Of Clothes

THE cost of clothes is not what counts... How little or how much... But whether they are cared for with... That neat and tidy touch... They lend no look of wisdom... Superiority... Nor do they ever indicate... One's true ability... But clothes contribute confidence... And comfort of the mind... If they are not the wrinkled, soiled... Or poorly fitting kind... The same as too loud color... Eccentric dress or suit... Identifies the wearer as... A freak or a galoot... So in the last analysis... In palace or on street... The clothes that really matter are... The sensible and neat.

Magic Interest
Government Will Pay Five Per Cent Each Year Until 1964

In October of 1959 the U. S. Treasury sold a couple of billion dollars of new notes carrying a "magic" 5 per cent coupon—the highest 5 rate placed on a U.S. obligation in over a generation. To investors who own these securities, the Treasury will pay 5 per cent interest every year between now and the notes' due date in 1964.

In February of this year the U.S. Treasury sold another couple of billion dollars of new notes. On these obligations, also to come due in 1964, the Treasury placed a coupon of 4 1/2 per cent.

If the Treasury were to issue similar notes today, it could sell them with an interest coupon of 4 1/2 per cent.

This illustrates the dramatic extent to which interest rates—as measured by what the giant U.S. Treasury pays to borrow—have declined just in the past few months.

This underlines the extraordinary extent to which investors really have been buying U.S. bonds and thereby permitting the Treasury to borrow at progressively lower interest rates.

The whole picture in the bond markets of this country has been drastically altered since the start of the year. Behind the change are five basic forces which are of direct meaning to you, even if you own no bonds, have no intention of owning any. Specifically:

(1) A first reason for the reversal lies in the very degree to which interest rates had soared at the end of 1959.

So unusual was the 5 per cent coupon on a U.S. Government note that nationwide headlines and investors who never before had even considered buying a U.S. security entered orders for them. Since last October, individuals have become buyers of high-coupon U.S. marketable obligations on a scale unknown since the '20s.

(2) A second reason has been the dwindling of inflation fears and thus, the willingness of investors to buy bonds in quantity again.

In most of the post-World War II period buyers of U.S. bonds have taken a licking because while they've received $1-plus-interest back for every $1 invested, the interest hasn't been enough to offset the rising cost of living and taxes.

Now the fear of runaway inflation has subsided and properly so. The higher interest coupons being paid will cover any foreseeable annual price rise and tax bite.

(3) A third factor has been the disenchantment of large numbers of investors with high-priced stocks.

From the beginning, the decline in stock prices has been furthered by shifting of funds from stocks to bonds—particularly by institutional investors. The shifts have been pushing up bond prices, pushing down interest rates and new borrowers have benefited.

(4) A fourth factor has been the downgrading of exuberant forecasts for business and for the need for credit this year.

The angle here is that in a more moderate economic advance there won't be such fierce demands for loans, and therefore not such intense pressures on borrowing costs. So far, at least, the demand for credit hasn't been sufficient to send interest rates to new peaks.

(5) And a fifth factor has been the realization that as the Federal budget is balanced, the Treasury won't have to tap the market constantly with new loans. There'll hardly be a scarcity of U.S. Treasury issues but there won't be an ever-growing supply either.

It's improbable that the Treasury will soon again have to pay 5 per cent to borrow money. You can still buy those "Magic Fives" whenever you wish, of course, but today, you'll have to pay $1.033 for each $1,000 of them.

Now if you buy U.S. Government securities, expect a satisfactory, comfortably "fat" but not sensational income. Uncle Sam has stopped playing Santa Claus in the U.S. Government market.

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY
Living Together
North Accepts Integrated Schools But Dislikes Association

Behind this great civil rights battle in Congress lies an uneasiness of which most of the gallery spectators are unaware. Nevertheless it is there. Senators and House members hint at it as they talk with friends, or express it openly in their own conversations. And they are from northern and western states, not the South.

It is an uneasiness most apparent among representatives of congressional districts which have small numbers of negroes, or which contain residential sections where no negroes dwell. The only word which might express it is "apprehension" and the definition of that word as fear of something would be unacceptable to the people who live in the areas referred to.

There is nothing in the bill to cause such a feeling, for negroes already register and vote in the North and West—that is, where there are any negroes. But it is not generally realized that there are counties in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and the Dakotas, to name a few states, where there are very few negroes and there are scores of counties in other states where they are not sufficiently numerous to have become either social, educational or economic factors.

One very important House Republican leader recently told a couple of visiting friends, "You know this is one of those great issues to which the people in my district may give lip service, but it is nothing they get excited about."

To put it plainly and bluntly, it is dawning on the folks at home, in many districts outside the South that racial integration is intended to be a way of life in the country as well as in the city and that the Supreme Court decision on education, which seemed meaningless to those school districts which had always educated all races together, started a movement through which they may eventually live together.

Naturally the representatives of southern states who are filibustering against civil rights legislation are aware of this. It gives them some satisfaction. They are fighting the battle because it is in their political interest, but they have no apprehension about the wisdom of their course. They know that while a civil rights bill of some sort is almost certain to be passed eventually those who vote for it will be treading carefully. And that is why a "moderate" bill is likely to be approved by both houses.

If and when the bill becomes law, there will be a rash of statements from members who have large minority populations in their districts, deploring the failure of Congress to pass more rigid legislation, meaning something on the order of the old Force bill, which nobody wants, including themselves.

The uneasiness previously referred to rises in part from county contests now in progress in Illinois and New Jersey in opposition to integrated housing projects and to State "fair housing" laws aimed to prevent discrimination against Negroes. It is also attributable in part to a rash of State legislation barring racial job discrimination.

Ambitious politicians outside the South are confronted with a problem as they doze through the long civil rights debates. The Negroes in their larger cities want a tough civil rights law. But an important percentage of their white constituents are disturbed by the thought of housing and neighborhood integration. They are the same who have thus far regarded school integration as only something ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court. So far they have had a very limited experience with it.

The members of Congress understand this situation from their experience in Washington. Fifty three per cent of the population in the nation's capital is colored. The city's suburbs in Maryland and northern Virginia have mushroomed, because in neither section has school integration produced any extensive admixture of students as it has in Washington. And the members and their families live in the exclusively white sections of the city. Not more than five per cent live in what are described as the integrated sections of the city.

Of the 2 million American workers who get a daily coffee break, better than 16 million don't have to leave their desks or work benches. Their coffee is brought to them. Coffee drinking in the U. S. reached its highest level in history last year. Total consumption was more than 390 million cups a day. An estimated $7 million was spent for advertising coffee and tea in daily newspapers in 1959.

RACIAL

Rights Commission Has Own Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Civil Rights Commission, set up by Congress as a guardian of racial rights, had its own ethnic problem this week.

Crux of the matter was a young Negro's marriage with a German girl whom he met while on military service overseas. Until last August the 22-year-old Negro, Fred D. Allen, now a college student here, was secretary to John T. Godlewski, 42, a commission lawyer.

Godlewski quit the commission under fire last week. At a press conference this week after he had been quizzed by Senate investigators, he charged commission staff director Gordon M. Tiffany with practicing racial discrimination. He asserted that Tiffany not only fired Allen because he planned to marry the white girl but also was guilty of numerous other instances of discrimination. Tiffany, former New Hampshire attorney general, issued a general denial. He declared that Godlewski, one-time director of Polish relations for the Republican national committee, was "disgruntled." He said further that Allen's marriage to the white girl had nothing to do with it and also that the commission's staff "is the most color blind" of any agency in Washington.

Tiffany said Allen resigned voluntarily to go to college before plans for the interracial marriage came to his attention. But when he learned of the impending marriage, he said, he discussed it with Rufus W. Kuykendall, a Negro who then was a high-ranking member of the staff. He said the discussion concerned the possible effects the marriage would have on the commission.

Godlewski talked to reporters after giving closed-door testimony before a Senate investigating subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.). The subcommittee was questioning staff employees about alleged waste and inefficiency in the commission.

City Court

MONROE

Monroe city court yesterday saw only three major convictions while a number of minor cases were tried with Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

A fine of $350 or seven months in jail was set for Bessie Lee Williams, 27, 311 North 8th Street, Monroe, when she was found guilty of malicious mischief. Police had accused her of tampering with another person's property without the consent of the owner.

Rance Jenkins, 22, 519 Atkinson Street, Monroe, was convicted of simple battery, and drew a fine of $200 or 200 days in jail. Lillian Johnson, 34, 805 South 18th Street, Monroe, received a fine of $100 or 100 days in jail when found guilty on an illegal weapon charge.

A total of 40 city court cases yesterday resulted in 12 convictions, 21 forfeited bonds and seven nolle prosequi. One theft case was dismissed when the defendant made payment for the amount he allegedly had taken.

Other cases which resulted in convictions or forfeited bonds were, five for reckless driving; two, simple battery, four for drunkenness and one for indecent exposure.

WEST MONROE
Only three cases came before West Monroe city court yesterday with each of the defendants forfeiting bonds.

The cases were, reckless driving, speeding and running a stop sign.

Among children 10 to 14, and young people 15 to 19, milk is the favorite beverage — soft drinks are second. To sell its best prospects the dairy industry spent an estimated $16.9 million in newspaper advertising last year.

MITCHELL TWINS
TALLULAH (Special) — Graveside services will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at Silver Cross Cemetery for Debbie and Debra Mitchell, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Moore Mitchell.

The infant twin daughters died Friday morning in the Madison Parish hospital shortly after birth. Survivors besides the parents include maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Beaker, and

McDonald Talks On Rebel Facet Within Union

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers told USW leaders in a fiery speech Friday that they must help fight rebel factions within the union.

"By God, you've got to get up and fight these bedbugs," he declared. "Don't leave it to Dave McDonald."

McDonald's remarks brought cheers from 600 USW officers attending a two-day state conference to map a legislative action campaign.

McDonald indicated the union may use the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 to fight insurgents. He did not elaborate.

An insurgent faction calling itself the Dues Protest Committee was formed in 1957 and ran a slate of candidates in a union election in a vain attempt to unseat McDonald and other international officers of the USW.

When it was formed, the committee said its main purpose was to fight an increase in union dues. Friction has cropped up from time to time since then between insurgents and supporters of the union administration.

Feud Erupts Into Court Suit In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — A feud between two brothers who founded Revlon, Inc., has erupted in court with one brother suing the other and the corporation for $601,460 over a stock transaction.

The action came to light when the defense sought to have stricken from the complaint a section it described as "irrelevant, scandalous and prejudicial."

The suit was brought in State Supreme Court by Martin E. Revson, who was executive vice president of the cosmetics-manufacturing firm until April 1958. Named as a defendant was Charles Revson, president of the corporation.

Revlon attracted nationwide attention of television audiences as sponsor of "The $64,000 Question" and "The $64,000 Challenge," shows now defunct as a result of the quiz scandals last year. The shows do not figure in the suit.

Census Bureau Can't Find Enough Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Census Bureau officials disclosed Friday they're having trouble hiring enough people in the major cities for the nationwide nose count that starts next month.

The average pay of $65 a week for enumerators has little appeal in urban areas, Robert W. Burgess, director of the Census Bureau, told a House Census subcommittee.

Rep. Robert J. Corbett (R-Pa.) added two other drawbacks—too tough a qualifying test and the laborious, tedious nature of the job.

Corbett said more than 50 percent of those taking the qualifying examinations in Pittsburgh had flunked.

LIFESAVING DECISIONS
A station wagon with two newly married couples was forced off a busy highway into a concrete abutment over a culvert, seriously injuring the driver and the woman passenger in the seat behind him. The woman was in critical condition and the only ambulance available took her to a hospital but she was dead on arrival.

The driver lay on the ground awaiting the return of the ambulance. His chest had been crushed by the steering wheel and breathing was difficult. He was in shock when he finally arrived at the hospital and was told he would not survive.

I DARED TO SAY "I LOVE YOU"

By Becky Burris

Housewife; Redlands, California

BECKY BURRIS

One day, reading the newspapers, and feeling utterly gloomy about the dark headlines, I asked myself: "But what can one woman do?"

The question gnawed at me all day, until I had to tell myself: "I must do something — even if it's only a little something — to make the world a better place."

My heart spoke first: "The only weapon powerful enough to destroy the hate in the world is love."

My head spoke next: "Before you can make the world better, you must be better yourself: clean everything alien to love out of your heart."

But I was rusty at loving, loving others, anyway. I loved myself. I was self-centered, grabby, given to whining and finding fault. I had to study love, how to get it . . . more, how to give it. I couldn't do it alone, so I asked God for help.

A FEELING OF JOY

"Take everything unworthy out of me, dear God, and fill me with love," I prayed.

I had to help, of course. I dug and hacked away at malice and envy and greed. After a while I began to feel a joy instead of the stomach knots these evil feelings always left inside.

"Take your home next," my head advised me. "Make things a little nicer for those you live with."

I started next morning. It was the first day I let love tell me what to do. Up early, I told my drowsing husband: "Let me bring you some coffee, honey."

Formerly, I stayed in bed and begged him to bring me coffee.

PUZZLED BUT PLEASED

He was puzzled, but pleased when he got his coffee. I kissed him, and said: "I love you."

I had never said that so boldly. "What would you like for breakfast?" I asked him, and being said and done around him?

REPLY

No, as coma is a state of unconsciousness. The individual may be conscious while going into or coming out of the coma but the majority are too dull or ill to know what is going on.

SANDY

M. A. M. writes: What can be done about gravel in the urine?

REPLY

Your physician makes tests to determine the chemical composition of the gravel and suggests appropriate drugs to dissolve the gravel or a diet to discourage its production.

IRRITABLE AND NERVOUS

M. A. T. writes: Are extreme irritability and nervousness signs of an impending nervous breakdown?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Many cranky and jittery individuals improve overnight when the cause is eliminated. Nervous breakdown is more likely to follow a period of insomnia, physical exhaustion, depression, or over-activity.

A FRIEND LEARNS

One day my friend Ruth called. Ruth is a self-sufficient divorcee. She had hooted at the very idea of improving the world.

"You'll howl," she said exultantly, over the phone. "Honestly, it's a scream. Here I am running a nursery school."

"You mean, you've got a job?" "Young mothers, servicemen's wives," Ruth bubbled, "all do their wash in the community laundry on my street, and their babies stumble around their feet. I asked one mother if she'd like me to watch her kids while she did her laundry. She fell around my neck. And now, honey, I've a regular nursery school; it's the first baby tending I ever did in my life and I love it."

There was a new note in Ruth's voice. She had put others before herself, and had learned what it means to serve.

That's the only way to show love. Jesus showed us how when He was everybody's servant. We can do no less — if we want a better world.

WALL STREET VIEWS

Bears And Bulls Both Displeased

NEW YORK (AP) — Both the bulls and the bears are displeased with the stock market's backing and filling tactics of the past two weeks, a Wall Street analyst said Friday.

B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Conn. and Stetson sees it this way: "For the optimists, lack of volume on rallies and absence of selling pressure might be construed as the beginning of a new upward trend which could be expected to gather strength after a couple of more weeks of this listless action."

"For the bears, the same phenomena suggest that the buying element has finally run out of money and that the next test of the lows will bring out new sellers."

Walter K. Gutman of Shields & Co. comments the "old-fashioned" terms "bear" and "bull" can be misleading and prevent investors from getting the sort of results they want.

"Modern markets," he says, "are sometimes influenced by extremely broad and powerful movements of stocks in which for a while virtually all stocks go up or down."

"There are also extended periods where stock movements are quite diverse. During such times it pays to remember that 'Any time is a good time to buy a good enough stock' and also that 'Any time is good time to sell a high enough stock.'"

"It seems to me that we are in such a period now. While business has been disappointing, the disappointment has been more for certain industries than others."

Dow Jones News Service sees a potential source of market strength in the continuing flow of favorable earnings reports and business forecasts.

Brokers, it says, are of the opinion that the downward drift of the market so far this year has caused many of these to be ignored. They hope that belated consideration of such news may help spark a spring rise.

Mart Closes Some Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed slightly higher today but below its best of the session. Final dealings were fairly active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2,600,000 shares compared with 2,140,000 Thursday. Gains running from fractions to a point thinly outbalanced losers in the same range.

Chemicals, oils, building materials and tobacco produced a good array of gainers while steel, motors and rails softened.

Mail order, retail and some of the electronics also showed gains.

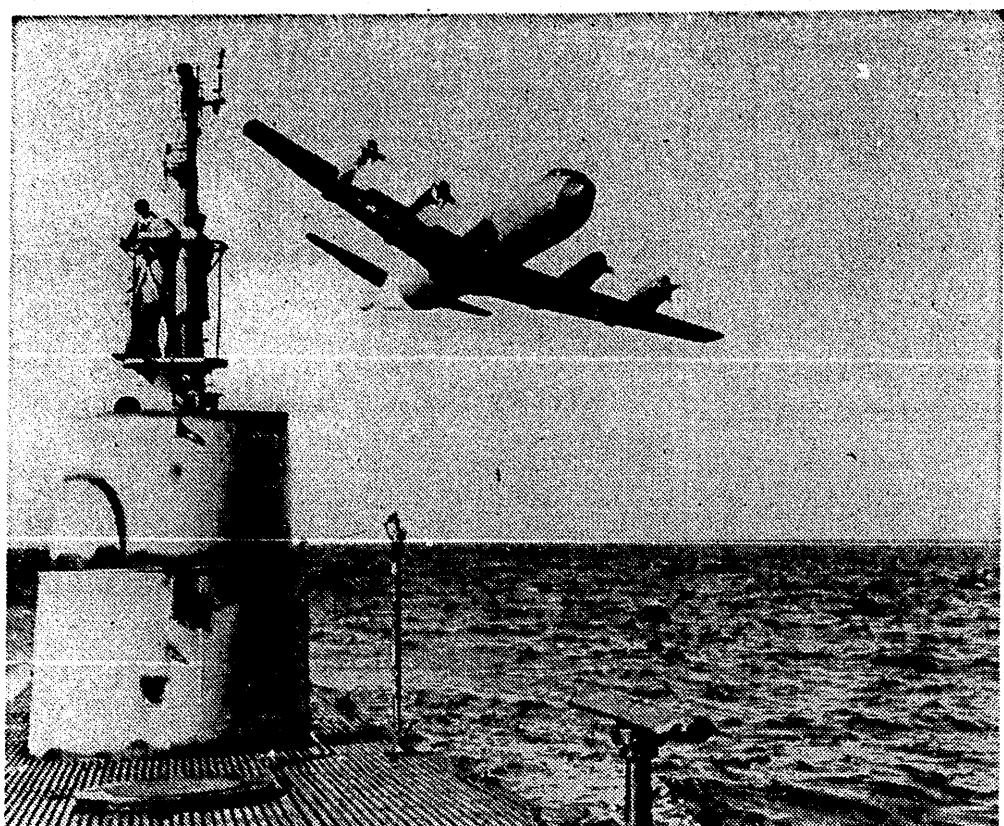

The list was enlivened by a number of specially situated issues which ran up sizable gains. A American Shipbuilding added about 7 points to Thursday's big rise as Wall Street buzzed with rumors about the company.

Monterey Oil continued in demand, advancing more than a point.

Gains of about a point were made by DuPont, Lorillard, Woolworth and Eastman Kodak. Nickel Plate picked up a couple of points.

Northwest Airlines dropped more than a point in reaction to its passenger plane crash. Other airlines took fractional losses.

U.S. government bonds improved.

THE NAVY'S newest anti-submarine warfare airplane, the Y/P3V-1, zooms above its underwater foe — in this case the USS Captain portraying an enemy submarine — in recent exercise off the southern California coast. The prop-jet plane built by Lockheed is powered by four turbine engines rated at 4,500 h.p. each. It's capable of lugging torpedoes, depth charges and special weapons carried internally to attack its submersible foe. Rockets fired from wing pylons complete plane's armament. The new ASW plane is said to have a cruising speed of 400-plus miles per hour. (AP Wirephoto)

Pilot Dressen Confident Braves Will Take Pennant

By JOE REICHLER

BRADENTON, Fla., (AP) — Chuck Dressen may be brash, outspoken and perhaps egotistical but he is also a solid baseball man and one of the smartest managers in the game. There are few men in the game with a keener analytical mind.

So when the little Milwaukee pilot said recently that the Dodgers wouldn't win the pennant again because the Braves would, he was not intending to be little his old club. He was merely voicing his sincere belief. He fully realized he would be criticized for making such a blunt statement, and that he would be labeled again as a popoff, but that didn't stop him.

Friday, he went even further. "I still think we're better than the Dodgers. In fact, Milwaukee was a better club than the Dodgers last year, too," he said. "The only thing the Dodgers had was a stronger defense. They won last year but they won't this year."

"I've got to figure our club as the team to beat. I don't see any club who is better. It's not going to be a walkaway. In fact, I figure this to be as tough a race as last year. Each of the top contenders has ifs."

"With the Giants, it's if (Billy) O'Dell can pitch and if they strengthen their bench. With the Dodgers, it's if the older fellows like (Gil) Hodges and (Duke) Snider have another good year, and if they get the most out of their pitching staff. With the Reds it's if Billy Martin can still play second base and if (Cal) McLish can win in the National League."

"We have an 'if' condition at second base and maybe in left field. I'd like to see whether (Left) Covington has recovered from his operation. (Covington is still unsigned)."

When Dressen succeeded easy-going Fred Haney last winter, it was said that Chuck would either put new life into the drab Braves or they would make life miserable for him. So far it's been a very amicable association between manager and players.

"Everybody was trying to tell me what a tough club it was to handle," said Dressen. "Tough?" They're the most cooperative and enthusiastic bunch I've ever managed. They told me Hank Aaron don't like to run. He's been running as much as any man on the club down here. The day we brought out the sliding pants, the first player to try them on was Eddie Mathews.

"I don't have a loafer on the club. In fact, they hustle just as much as the Dodgers. And their sire to win is no less. The only difference between the two clubs is we got more tools."

Dressen plans to make few changes on the club that lost the 1959 flag to the Dodgers in a play-off. He is putting a stronger stress on fundamentals, such as perfecting the cutoff play and accentuating the steal and hit and run.

Other changes include shifting Mathews, the club's top home run hitter, from second to third in the lineup, and mapping out a pitching rotation that would provide more work for the younger hurlers and more rest for veterans, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette.

"My idea is to cut down on Spahn's and Burdette's losses and, at the same time, make it possible for them to win as many games as they did last year," he said. "It could be done and I'll show them how."

The team has good power, good pitching, fair speed and fair defense. When Covington signs, he will team up with Aaron in right and Billy Bruton or Al Spangler in center. Lee Maye is the No. 1 reserve, Mathews and Johnny Logan are a pinch for third and short, respectively.

Dressen prefers Joe Adcock over Frank Torre at first because of the right-handed slugger's power.

Torre is much the better defensive player. Second base is still wide open although the problem there is not as acute as it was a month ago.

Red Schoendienst, fully recovered from Tuberculosis, has surprised with his agility, energy, eagerness, and oldtime form. Mel Roach, hobbled by a knee operation last year, has looked good both at bat and in the field. Young Chuck Cottier is the same—great field, no hit.

The pitching is the same. Behind Spahn, Burdette and Bob Buhl are Joey Jay, Carl Willey, Juan Pizarro and Bob Rush. Don McMahon and Bog Giggie head the relief brigade. A couple of promising newcomers might make the staff. They are Ron Piche and Ken McKenzie.

Dietzel Speaks To Quarterbacks

By JIM CALHOUN

Staff Sports Writer
Personable LSU football coach Paul Dietzel, a recruiter of fans as well as gridiron talent, gave the West Monroe Quarterback Club a rundown on everything from a player's responsibility to his own personal hobby — eating before an enthusiastic family night crowd here last night.

The young mentor, named coach of the year in 1958, was principal speaker at the annual meeting to honor West Monroe High School's athletic teams.

"With ability comes responsibility," Dietzel asserted. Every ball player, whether it's in high school or college, is a hero to the kids. If he has the ability to be an outstanding ball player, he also has an added responsibility to the youngsters."

In an interview after the meeting Dietzel confirmed the fact that Elton Upshaw, a former standout quarterback at Neville, quit the squad last week. Dietzel has received no small amount of criticism for not playing Upshaw during the past season.

"My hobby is eating and in order to do that I have to play the best players I have available," he said. "The only thing I can go on is how a player performs on the field."

Dietzel commented that about 90 per cent of the Tiger football team are native Louisianians. "If you have any more Jerry Stovall's around here, I'd sure like to have them," he said, adding that Stovall, one of West Monroe's all-time great athletes, has a promising future at LSU.

Touching on the job of a coach, Dietzel stressed that a successful one must be dedicated.

"A football coach can do more for boys and girls in the formative years than any other person," he emphasized. "The only thing wrong with a coach's job on the high school level is that he's always underpaid."

Completing the cycle, Dietzel, a native Ohioan said that he likes it here. "I've got 68,000 experts to help me in my job," he joked. "Most of them see two or three games a year and know more about coaching than the guy who works at it 365 days a year," the crowd pleaser quipped.

In closing he pointed out that a team cannot be a winner unless the players pay for it.

"I can get 5,000 LSU students to rush out into Tiger Stadium and listen to a Crowd of 68,000 cheering them on. But it's hard to find 33 boys who are willing to practice five days a week in order to play on Saturday."

Attending the affair with Dietzel was Larry Jones, LSU line coach and chief recruiter for this area.

Cecil Pirkey, West Monroe football coach, gave special recognition to the Rebel girls basketball team and coach Lou Nell Russell. They were awarded a plaque which designated them district champions.

Bowler Breaks Time Record, Hospitalized

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (AP)—A Plainville, Conn. bowler Friday rolled 1,001 games for a ten-pin bowling marathon record. He wound up in a nearby Hartford hospital.

Steve Karpinski, a 37-year-old truck driver, fired the first shot last Sunday at 2:04 p.m. and reached the record at 4:11 a.m. Friday. Officially, he rolled 110 games and 7 minutes.

The 1,001 mark broke the 1,000 games set in 111 hours by Don Newport of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. After Karpinski finished his ordeal, in which he shattered all records set by Newport, he was taken to the hospital, where he was treated for swollen hands, arms, feet and exhaustion.

In addition to the game record, Karpinski finished in less time than Newport, posted a higher average, 124.57 to 123. He had 2,023 strikes compared with Newport's 1,500. His best game was 257; his lowest 21.

The Plainville bowler started with a 16-pound ball and finished with a 14-pounder. At least half his games were rolled with his left hand after he injured the tendons on his right arm.

Except for a 10-minute break about every hour, and some 15 or 20 minutes off for meals, Karpinski bowled during the entire 4½ days.

WILT, HEINSOHN CLASH

Warriors Defeat Celtics, 115-110

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt (The Slim) Chamberlain unleashed both his fists and his famous dunk shot Friday night in leading the Philadelphia Warriors to a 115-110 victory over the Boston Celtics, evening at one victory each the best-of-7 National Basketball Assn. Eastern Division finals.

The 7-1, 250-pound Chamberlain scored 29 points and did his usual tremendous rebounding job but the big excitement for a record 12,518 fans came when he squared off in a fight with 220-pound Tom Heinsohn.

The fistcuffs, nearly precipitating a free-for-all, erupted in the second quarter after the two players banged into each other. Chamberlain, who has been urged many times by Warrior Coach Neil Johnson to swing back at his many tormentors, charged after Heinsohn. The two stood toe-to-toe and slugged it out before players from both teams, the officials and police restored order.

Chamberlain, with 12 points in the first period, got the Warriors off in front and, except for an early change of leads and a deadlock at 41 in the second quarter, Philadelphia led all the way.

The two teams left immediately after the game for Boston where the third game will be played Saturday afternoon.

The Warriors, who finished second in regular season play and earned the right to meet the Celtics in the Eastern finals with a preliminary playoff victory over Syracuse, led at every stop — 31-27 at the end of the first quarter, 63-53 at the half, 90-85 at the three-quarter mark.

Chamberlain received scoring help from Paul Arizin, who led both teams with 30 points. Heinsohn's 26, including his first seven tries from the field topped the Boston scoring.

The Celtics obviously felt the effect of a poor night by the veteran Bob Cousy who managed only six field goals on 27 tries. The usually sharp-shooting Bill Sharman also was muffled as he scored but 10 points.

Trailing 98-85 early in the fourth period, K. C. Jones pulled the division champion Celtics together and with Conley, Richter and Frank Ramsey narrowed the gap to 104-99.

But the Warriors pulled away again as Arizin and Guy Rodgers hit for important points.

Rodgers, who scored 18 points and made nine assists, controlled the ball in the waning minutes of play.

Chamberlain collected 23 rebounds to 20 for rival Bill Russell, who scored 15 points.

Houston Winner At Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) — A couple of Texas schools — NCAA champion Houston and Lamar Tech — made a two-team show out of the Lake Charles Intercollegiate Invitation golf tournament which ended here yesterday.

Houston won the meet with a team total of 881 while Lamar was second with 895 and had the meet individual champ, Danny Mason.

Northeast was sixth in the ten-team field with a 962 total. Northeast's Clayton Cole was 16th in the individual standings with 116-118—234. Jim Harper 21st with 117-119—236. Larry Tilley 23rd with 121—117—238. Gene Adams 39th with 125-129—254 and Bill King 46th with 132-135—267.

Houston and Lamar Tech furnished all but one of the top ten individual golfers, their domination broken only by Robbie Webb of Mississippi Southern who finished 10th.

Jacky Cupit of Houston was second to Mason with a 111-103—214 total. The ace Houston golfer has either won or finished second in his last 12 college matches. He was second last year also.

Houston, despite slipping a bit from last year when the Cougars swept the six top positions, won its 20th meet in a row.

Stephen F. Austin was third, far back of the Houston and Lamar, with 942.

Ron Weber of Houston, the defending individual champion, fell to fifth this year with a 224 total.

Bucks Gain Finals With 76-54 Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes, paced by All-American Jerry Lucas and unsung Larry Siegfried, reached the final of the NCAA Basketball Championships Friday with a convincing 76-54 triumph over New York University.

California's defending champions met Oscar Robertson and Cincinnati in the second game with the winner meeting the Big Ten champion Buckeyes for the title Saturday night.

A crowd of 14,500 jammed the Cow Palace and saw Ohio State fast break to an 8-0 lead in the first 2½ minutes. Only once were the Buckeyes threatened—late in the first half when the margin was cut to two points.

But Lucas, a 6-8 sophomore, paced Ohio State to a 37-28 half-time advantage. With 6½ minutes in the game left, the Violets of NYU were 19 points behind and virtually in rout. Lucas wound up with 19 points.

Siegfried, the playmaker of this year's club, after being the team's high scorer a year ago, also had 19.

CLASS B SHAKEUP PROPOSED

Officials attending the annual Louisiana High School Athletic Association meeting in Alexandria next weekend will get a long look at a resolution that, in the opinion of Mangham coach Armed Matthews, will eliminate one of the biggest problems that confronted Class B football teams last season.

At first glance the idea might be interpreted as a revolution instead of a resolution, but we feel Matthews' plan carries a lot of merit.

For the benefit of those coaches and principals who have a copy of proposals distributed by the state commissioner T. M. Waters, Matthews is the author of items 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 under motions pertaining to Class B.

Although in the memo the items are listed separately Matthews has informed us that they all should be grouped under one proposal: the re-districting and re-classifying of Class B football-playing schools in seven circuits instead of the present ten.

And here's the key point of the proposal: each newly-formed district will be made up of schools designated under one of two classifications—B or B-B. Schools with over 75 boys enrolled will be classified B-B, those with under 75 will be B.

Under Matthews' plan games between teams in the same district—even B against B-B—would count in conference standings. At the end of the season the top team in each of the two classifications would continue to the playoffs in a separate division.

Most everyone would agree these changes would completely revamp the present setup. So what are the advantages of such a switch? Matthews feels there's a lot to be gained and so far he hasn't found any disadvantages.

The most important result of such a realignment would be the shortening of the football season. Last year the Class B title was up in the air until almost Christmastime. That's too much football for any high school youngster.

It figures that with only seven districts instead of ten, the playoff period will be curtailed by at least one week. Thus, everyone would be able to eat Christmas dinner without worrying about a Class B state champion.

With each district producing two separate champions, the smaller schools (B) can compete in a league with the larger schools (B-B) and still have a shot at their own championship.

Matthews reasons that with a greater number of teams in a district, more district games will be played. And more district games means more interest on the part of both players and spectators since these contests will have a direct bearing on title aspirations.

The question of re-classification has popped up in the past but until Matthews stepped forward no one had come up with anything resembling a workable solution.

The Mangham coach has the setup worked out in detail and to us it looks like a winner. All it needs now is the support of all of the state's five classifications from AAA to C.

BASEBALL OPENER

Louisiana Tech Tips Henderson

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech scored four runs in the eighth inning to open the 1960 baseball season here Friday afternoon with a 4-1 victory over Henderson State Teachers College.

The game was also the first of the year for the Arkadelphia, Ark., school.

These two teams will take the field here again Saturday afternoon in a non-conference game which will start at 2:30.

Held scoreless for seven innings, the Tech Bulldogs broke loose in the eighth after two were out and pushed four runs across before Henderson could put out the fire. Three freshmen came through with timely hits to provide the victory.

After pinchhitter E. L. Joyner had walked in the eighth, first baseman James Sewell, Shreveport freshman, doubled. Frosh catcher Don Durr, also of Shreveport, came through with a sharp single that scored two runs for Tech.

Pitcher Newell Blume, Lake Charles freshman, drove across another run with a onebagger and shortstop Mack Hunt, West Monroe sophomore, added still another score with Tech's fourth hit of the inning.

Blume came in to pitch for Tech in the seventh and received credit for the triumph. The loser was Jim Wooten, who also came on in the seventh.

The visiting Reddies scored their lone run in the third inning on a walk, an error and a single by center fielder Brown Hardman.

Henderson got five hits off three Tech pitchers while Tech picked up six hits off the same number of Reddie hurlers.

Tech's pitchers, J. W. Mercer, Alvin Parker and Blume, each went three innings. Mercer gave up one hit, Parker three and Blume one.

Coach Berry Hinton of Tech likely will use pitchers Charles Fuller of Dubach, Jim Penton of Spearsville and Gary Cooper of Faulke, Ark., in today's game with Henderson.

In general, the suggestions pertain to rules changes involving student eligibility, regulations for officials, game contracts and classifications.

Waters said a complete revision of B school classification has been submitted. A proposal calls for setting up a BB class for schools, now in class B, with fewer than 75 boys enrolled.

The list also includes a proposal to prohibit a basketball team from playing more than two games in one day. During tournaments teams often play more.

Commenting on the plan to hold state title basketball games at the same time and place, Waters said the members of each class would have to pass on the matter. Each class determines its own play-off under present rules.

Braves Bomb Rookie Hurler To Turn Back Yankees, 7-4

BRAVES 7, YANKEES 4
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Milwaukee's rookie hurler, George Haney, a 20-year-old rookie, for three runs in the eighth inning Friday and defeated the New York Yankees 7-4. It was the Yankees' fourth defeat in six games this spring.

Hank Aaron homered off Bob Turley in the fourth with a man on base and Gil McDougald got a solo homer in the same game off Carl Wiley.

Yogi Berra, Yank regular catcher for the past decade, again was at third base. He made one error and got three of the losers' 12 hits. He drove in three runs. McDougald also got three hits.

PHILLIES 1, REDS 0
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Rookie Jim Coker doubled home a run in the eighth inning Friday and brought the Philadelphia Phillies a 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. It was the game's only extra-base hit.

The defeat was the fourth for the Reds in five Grapefruit League outings.

Veteran Robin Roberts and Chris Short, rookie left-hander, worked for the Phillies, with the latter being credited with the victory. The defeat was charged to Joe Nuxhall, veteran left-hander. He worked the final four frames after Cal McLish, 19-game winner for Cleveland last season, limited the Phillies to five scattered hits.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians belted six home runs, two each by rookie Walt Bond and Norm Cash to bury the Boston Red Sox 11-6 Friday.

Bond also had a single as he sparked the Indians with six runs batted in. Catcher John Romano and shortstop Gene Leek also homered for the Indians.

Marty Keough, pitcher Bill Muffett and rookie Lou Clinton homered for the Red Sox who absorbed their second straight loss in Cactus League baseball competition.

Four of the Cleveland circuit-clouts came off the services of rookie right-hander Tracy Stallard who gave up six runs in three innings he worked.

TIGERS 7, CARDS 6
LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Some clutch hitting by Neil Chrissy and Casey Wise pulled the Detroit Tigers from behind Friday for a 7-6 Grapefruit League decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A crowd of 525 huddled in top-coats and blankets at Henry Field and watched the Tigers capture their third victory in five starts.

After the Cardinals raked Jim Bunning for six runs in the fourth inning—sending nine men to bat—the Tigers cut loose against rookie Jim Donohue for five runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

An announcement from Coast Guard headquarters in New Orleans earlier this week that the April 1 deadline would be enforced was later denied by the agency's headquarters in Washington.

DYKES SLUGS HOMER

Bolton Outlasts Rebels In Season Opener, 12 To 9

Grabbing an early lead with a nine-run second inning, Bolton's Bears pushed over the deciding run in the fifth frame to spoil West Monroe's 1960 baseball opener with a 12-9 victory here Friday afternoon.

Shortstop Wayne Hood's long sacrifice fly in the fifth stanza drove in Joe McKey with the go-ahead run after the Rebels had come from seven runs behind to knot the count at 9-9.

In nothing their third consecutive win of the season against no losses, the Bears whacked two Reb hurlers freely, banging out a total of 13 safeties. First sacker Charles Anastasio led the attack with a solo home run in the second inning that produced the first Bolton tally and ignited the nine-run outburst.

But the losers' Charley Dykes, a slick-fielding third baseman switched from first, wielded the game's biggest stick. Dykes cracked out three hits in four trips to the plate, including a circuit clout to dead center field in the second frame with two mates aboard.

Roscoe Scroggins, John Moses and Roscoe Holcomb collected the only other West Monroe hits.

Righthander James Trotter went the distance for the fumble-fingered Bears, striking out seven batters while walking only three. He gave up only two earned runs as his mates committed eight bobbles.

Another righthander, Charles Taylor, threw five innings for the locals, permitting ten runs to take the loss. Sophomore Wayne Hardwick finished up the final two innings.

West Monroe, defending district 1-AAA champs, was staked to a pair of gift tallies in the initial inning on four Bolton errors.

But the Bears came back with nine runs in the second, sending 13 batters to the plate before the Rebels could put out the fire. Anastasio's homer started the spree and singles by Robert Raxdale, Don Scott, Trotter, a double by Raxdale, three free passes and two errors kept the rally going.

West Monroe annexed five runs in the same frame with Dykes' clout supplying most of the power and knotted the game at 9-9 with two more in the fourth.

Scroggins, Holcomb and Dykes put together back-to-back singles for one run and Moses plated the ninth tally on a fly to left.

McKey led off the fifth for Bolton with a base hit to set up the winning tally. He went all the way to third on a hit by Trotter and trotted across on a sacrifice fly by Hunter.

Two hits and a walk gave the invaders two more tallies in the seventh off the slants of Hardwick.

HAWKS SHAKEN

Lakers To Host St. Louis Today

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Shaken by a home court loss and memories of last year's blizzard, the St. Louis Hawks struggle to head off another collapse against the Minneapolis Lakers Saturday in the third game of the National Basketball Assn's Western finals.

With the series even at a game apiece the Hawks have to win at least one game on the road to survive.

But they must do it against a team which unexplainably turns tiger against St. Louis after playing the pushover all season. A year ago Minneapolis whipped the Hawks 4-2 in the Western playoffs.

The Lakers came back home on the momentum of Thursday night's 120-113 victory in St. Louis, where Elgin Baylor hit 40 points to counter-balance one of his rare poor nights in the opening game of the best of seven series.

Minneapolis is confident but not jaunty. The Lakers agree with Charlie Share, the old Hawk who joined Minneapolis last month that St. Louis is no team to get complacent with.

"St. Louis is a team that can be overpowering," said Share. "Even with the home floor advantage we will have tomorrow and Sunday it's going to be extremely tough. I mean the Lakers will have to do everything right."

The Lakers have kept the scoring of Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan within respectable limits

TOP THRILL

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Alvin Dark, new Philadelphia third baseman, says his biggest thrill was another player's home run.

"It was Bobby Thomson's home run in the Polo Ground which enabled the Giants to beat the Dodgers in the 1951 National League pennant playoff," says Dark.

"THAT'S RIGHT, NO BITE!"

PREP BASKETBALLERS

All-Southwest Five Led By Charles Nash

By TRUMAN STACEY
Lake Charles American Press
(Written for the La. Sports Writers Assn.)

LAKE CHARLES, La. — Five tall and talented shotmakers have been selected as the outstanding prep basketball players of Southwest Louisiana. The 1959-60 All-Southwest five, as selected by the Louisiana Sports Writers association, averages six feet, two inches in height, and during the just-completed season scored more than 4,000 points.

Leading the team, for the second straight year, is Charles Nash. Lake Charles high school's talented performer, who is the first Class AAA player in Louisiana history to score 1,000 points in a single season.

Nash, a 6-5, 210-pound senior who was chosen on a high school All-America team before the season started, justified his selection with an outstanding achievement. Playing on a team with less than average talent, Nash's scoring and rebounding efforts were chiefly responsible for a final record of 2 victories against eight losses, a second-place finish in tough District 2-AAA, and a berth in the state playoff round.

For his 37 games, Nash scored 1,216 points, an average of 32.9 points per game. He was a tremendous rebounder, and a deft, capable defensive player.

Night behind Nash came Clyde Briley, almost his equal as a scorer with Class C Grand Prairie. Briley scored 1,144 points in 35 games, an average of 32.7 per game. Briley was chiefly a long-shot artist, meshing most semifinal victory over St. Bonaventure. He said it tasted queer. Doctors examined him before the game and said he was tense, weak but able to play. Coach Chuck Orsborn called for another examination Friday and a doctor found symptoms of nervous tension but no indication of poisoning. Walker was given pills to quiet his nerves and was told to stay in bed Friday and to watch his diet. He is expected to play Saturday.

The juice was brought to Walker's room by a young man posing as a bellboy, who told him it had been ordered by Orsborn. The coach denied he had sent it. Another glass of juice, untouched by Walker's roommate Al Saunders, was sent to a police laboratory for analysis. No trace of drugs or poison was found.

Orsborn, somewhat upset by the incident, said he didn't think there was anything wrong with the drink but he wanted to take every possible step to reassure the athlete.

Walker had become nauseated before games at other times and the doctor said the scare over the possibility that the drink had been drugged probably made his condition worse.

He was able to play only 23 minutes against St. Bonaventure but scored 27 points, high for his team.

Bradley is top seeded in the tournament and, if Walker is fit to play, likely will be a strong favorite. Providence, backed by some 3,000 of the noisiest fans ever to invade Madison Square Garden, upset third-seeded St. Louis 64-53 and second-seeded Utah State 66-62 en route to the final after edging Memphis State in a first round game, 71-70.

The Friars weren't impressive in their semifinal victory and Coach Joe Mullaney ordered a long workout Friday in an effort to smooth out their performance.

The teams met last December on Bradley's home court at Peoria, Ill., and Providence made it very close—57-55. Since then the Friars have won 21 of their last 22 games. Bradley's record now stands 26-2.

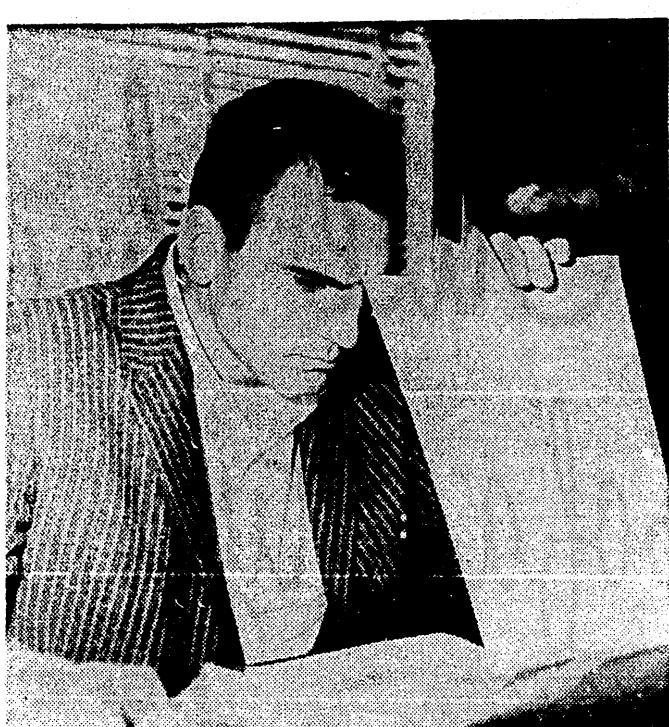

In addition to such scorers as Walker and Providence's 6-10 Jimmy Hadnot, each team has a top floor man who stood out in the semifinals.

Bradley's Mike Owens, a superb dribbler, refused to be rattled by St. Bonaventure's nervous defense which had produced two upsets. Because of his skill, his team usually had a man free to receive a pass. Len Wilkens of Providence not only made the plays for his team but he scored 18 points shooting from the outside.

Southeastern To Host Two In Track Meet

HAMMOND, La. (Special) — Southeastern Louisiana College will stage its first home track meet of the season Saturday after garnering a second place finish in the college division of the Shreveport Relays last week.

The talented young Lions will host Northwestern State and Tulane University on the Strawberry Stadium cinders at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Louisiana Tech topped the college title at Shreveport with 75½ points and SLC followed with 61 - 56 to edge out McNeese.

Lion pole vaulter Bill Haney set a new meet record and topped the SLC mark with a 13 ft. performance to win first place.

Two other records were cracked by Coach Al LeBlanc's athletes. Freshman middle distance man Arvo Laanorg set the new SLC 800-yard run record at 1:39.4 for a second place. A second place in 42.3 seconds produced the second SLC record in the 440-yard relay. Relay members were Earl Schneider, Paul Bellerose, Darryl Bubrig and Wayne Kozan.

The Lions took second in the distance medley relay and third places in the 880-yard and mile relays.

Ray Zeringue finished second in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 15.6 performance to come within two-tenths of a second of the

BRADLEY CASE

Suspected Juice Uncontaminated

NEW YORK (AP) — A police laboratory report and a doctor indicated Friday that it was uncontaminated orange juice that Bradley basketball star Chet Walker drank Thursday night before the

Westside Wins State 'A' Title

LILLIE, La. (Special) — In the state playoffs held at Southern University, Westside of Lillie, La. won the Class "A" championship by defeating Shady Grove, 59-38. Led by all-state center Willis Reed, the Tigers moved away in the first quarter and were never in serious danger. Reed scored 30 points.

In the semi-final, Westside defeated Charles Drew High School of Eunice by a score of 60-45. Reed scored 22 points followed by Leonard Carter with 16 points.

Westside ended the season with a 35-7 record, and was undefeated in class A competition.

This is the second state championship for Westside during the 1950 and 60 session, having already won the football title. In addition to this the Tigers won last year's basketball championship.

Bob Fanning missed the SLC record by one inch with a fourth place jump of 21'11 1/2", and Jim Falgout took fifth place with 20'11" effort. Fanning also copped team's semifinal game with St. Bonaventure in the National Invitation Tournament.

An analysis of the orange juice showed it contained "no narcotics, no common sedatives and no toxic substance," the laboratory report said. But despite the negative report, the laboratory said further tests would be made by the technical research department.

The police announcement followed the report of a doctor who examined the ailing Walker at his midtown hotel room and said he could find no trace of poison. He said Walker was weak, his stomach was in turmoil, and his ears plugged—all symptoms of nervousness.

"That's good news," said Bradley Coach Chuck Orsborn when told of the two reports. "Now maybe we can concentrate on getting ready for the championship game against Providence. We've got our hands full trying to plan without the distractions of this orange juice matter."

"He's real weak and staying in bed to get some rest," Orsborn said of Walker, who became ill shortly before Bradley's 82-71 victory over St. Bonaventure. "I'm inclined to think it was a nervous stomach caused by the excitement of the tournament and the suggestion that something might have been wrong with the juice. I expect Walker to play, but at best I will probably have to use him like I did last night."

Walker was shuttled in and out of the game and although he scored 27 points in 23 minutes of action, he was a mighty sick young man afterward.

The juice was delivered by a stranger about 19 or 20 wearing a red bellhop's uniform to the hotel room occupied by Walker, a sophomore from Benton Harbor, Mich. and Al Saunders, his teammate from Chicago. Walker drank his glass but Saunders became suspicious when the visitor said the juice had been sent by Orsborn. "Coach had never done that before," said Saunders, "so I decided to check."

Both the glass from which Walker drank and Saunders' glass were turned over to police.

The visitor remained unidentified Friday but Saunders said: "If I see him, I'll sure know him."

NEW B.F. GOODRICH HT SILVERTOWN gives 22% more mileage, costs only about $3 more than first-quality tire!

EXTRA-WIDE TREAD. Extra rubber where the wear is—that's one of the engineering advancements built into the new B.F. Goodrich "HT." The broad-shouldered tread of the "HT"—13% wider than regular tires—absorbs the impact of chuckholes, guards you against bruise breaks, blowouts, gives your car a quicker steering response. In fact, this new tire gives you all the premium performance qualities of some other tires costing twice as much!

EXTRA-QUIET TREAD. A new kind of tread rubber in the "HT"—"Quiet Rubber"—takes the hum out of highways, the squeal out of corners. And it cushions road bumps to give you the smoothest ride ever. You'll be surprised how a set of "HT" tires can bring new riding comfort to an older car! See your B.F. Goodrich Smileage dealer.

EXTRA-DEEP TREAD—6% deeper than regular tires. "HT" Silvertowns also have a new zigzag design for fast non-skid stops and smooth cornering. The "HT" tread, even when 50% worn, equals the traction of most new tires with conventional treads. You get extra safety beneath that muscular tread, too—4 plies of strong, heat-resisting nylon cord.

Bengals Host Southeastern Squad Today

HAMMOND, La. (Special) — Louisiana State University's Bengals host Southeastern Louisiana College on the Baton Rouge diamond Saturday to wind up SLC's opening week of baseball action on a 32-game schedule.

The Green and Gold Lions opened the 1960 campaign Tuesday and Wednesday in single games with Spring Hill College at Mobile, Ala.

Coach Pat Kenelly is counting on young pitchers to come through for the second straight year to aid his strong hitting and fielding nucleus. Only two veteran hurlers return from the '59 squad.

Curveballer Bob Hardy, last year's strikeout king, and Roland Oubre return as sophomores to lead the Lion pitching staff. Newcomers expected to show good form are transfer Larry Tynes, and Freshmen Jere Ray and Tommy Odiorne.

Southeastern's bat power is molded around some seasoned performers. First Baseman Sheldon Fernandez, Second Sacker Frank Misuraca, and Outfielder Chuck Mason, John Dayries and John Manzella are accomplished men with the stick.

Fernandez was SLC's triple crown winner last season with a .550 average, six home runs and 23 runs batted in. Dayries finished second with a .302 mark and Misuraca is known as "the little man with the big stick."

The Lions will open an eight-game home stand Monday with Southern Illinois University in a three-game series. Ole Miss will meet SLC March 24 and Northern Illinois University plays the Lions March 25.

The first Gulf States Conference game of the season will be against Louisiana Tech March 31. The Lions host Northeast State in a double header April 2 at Reimers Memorial Field to round out the home stand.

Bastrop Opens With Rayville

BASTROP, La. (Special) —The Bastrop High Rams, who had their scheduled baseball opener with Rayville postponed because of wet grounds Wednesday, will open at Rayville Tuesday.

The Rams have also added Bonita to their non-conference slate for March 30 here. The opening home game now comes next Friday.

Silver Anniversary Tea Held Honoring Mr. And Mrs. McMullen

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. McMullen Sr. was festive with pink blossoms on Sunday afternoon when they were honored at a silver anniversary tea hosted by Mrs. James Richardson and Miss Vivian Fluit from 3 til 6 p.m.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Richardson, and invited into the living room where pink aristocrat roses and silver leather leaf fern filled a silver container and were reflected in the large mirror over the mantel. At one end of the living room was a massive arrangement of pink spring blossoms interspersed with silver foliage in a silver bowl.

For her party, Mrs. McMullen wore a pink lace dress and a white, purple - throated orchid which was accented with silver. Mrs. Richardson was attired in a printed taffeta dress, while Miss Fluit chose a silk print dress. Both wore corsages of pink orchids.

In the dining room, the tea table was covered with a pink and silver cloth and centered with a silver bowl filled to overflowing with pink aristocrat roses and silver leather leaf fern. On either side of the arrangement were three - branched candelabra holding silver - glittered pink tapers. At one end of the table was a three - tiered square anniversary cake and at the other end was the silver service, from which coffee was served alternately by Mrs. Elsworth Parker and Mrs. Leon Fife. Mrs. E. M. Henderson, Mrs. J. D. Busby and Mrs. R. M. Dixon served punch, while the cake was served by Mrs. S. E. Morris and Mrs. T. E. Chaney.

Mrs. J. L. Griggs presided over the guest book, and Mrs. Fred Pettit Jr., Miss Ann Hobbins and Miss Kay Richardson assisted in the room where gifts were displayed.

Adding to the festivity were the miniature bride and groom which stood under an arch and were reflected in a mirror behind the buffet. Flanking the arrangement were pink aristocrat roses and silver fern.

Invited for a visit with the guests of honor were Messrs. and Mesdames J. Norman Coon, Fred Pettit, Frank Reitzell, M. V. Clark, S. E. Morris, J. D. Busby, A. T. White, J. F. Johnson, J. L. Also Mesdames Shirley Thrift, Donna Rhea Welch, Carolyn Flowers, Barbara Hulin, Carolyn Hobbins, Ann Hobbins, Loatie Stedman, Helen V. Smith, Mary Ann Osterland, and Lynn Foreman.

Out-of-town guests at the party included Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Thompson of Rayville and Mrs. C. A. Frey and Clifton Frey of Shreveport.

Beauty Hints For Mature, Older Women

For the mature or older woman who is still very active and wants to be just as fashionable as during her younger years, but is concerned about looking overly made-up, the following advice is offered:

Use all the various make - up requisites and techniques of application available to you, but pay particular attention to the choice of colors. Primarily choose the lighter shades as these will help diffuse any lines or wrinkles, whereas darker colors tend to cause shadows which accentuate this condition.

For your foundation make-up, use one with an undertone of pink or rose to supplement any loss of skin color. Check rouge should be used in pastel shades of pink or coral and, for the eyes and lips, use muted colors such as pastels or iridescent shades.

For your eye makeup, use eye shadow in a muted pastel shade to match the color of your eye make-up. To make your eye make-up look really dramatic, subtly apply as a toner over your colored lids, a true white eyeshadow.

But suppose you've gone over to the brunette side? Well, there are some different subtleties of make-up for you. First of all, stop thinking your eyebrows must be black. Instead of drawing on ink-black arcs, think of the appealing softness of brown or brownish-black brows. But mascara is another story. It should be black, no matter what brunette shade your hair is.

Use any bright or light eyeshadow tint you like, even try the pastel colored ones which are as soft as mist on the lids. It could be lilac, green, blue or any one of these blended with a true white eye shadow.

Lipstick? Your best choice would be a clear, clear red. Runners-up would be in the pale pink and iridescent tints.

If you are blonde turned brunette, for example, give yourself that beautiful brownish-velvet look. Use brown or light brown pencil to add warmth to your brows, line your eyes with brown pencil and use brown or brownish - black mascara. In- troduce a second eye shadow color if you wish to pick-up the color of your eyes or costume, and apply it along the upper lashes' edge.

The warm lipstick colors are your face's jewels. Dazzling coral, clear clear red, brilliant red and pink to rose tones. Soften them down and give them sparkle with essence of pearl iridescence, and apply rouge to match.

Latin Students In Shreveport For Convention

Approximately forty Latin students from Neville High School left Friday by chartered bus for the 8th annual Junior Classical League convention in Shreveport. Chap- eroning the event are Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Mrs. A. J. McCreedy, Mrs. Eunice Dunn and Miss Ruth Simmons, Latin Club sponsor.

Special delegates to the convention are as follows: nominating, Bo Pasternack and John Frazier; voting, Janet Hyman and Pete Mul- bern; program of work, Mimi Landry. Lea Thompson, a junior, will be a candidate for state J.C.L. vice president.

Students from 25 high schools in the state will participate in the 2-day convention, at which state officers for 1960-61 will be elected. Students will take part in work shops, give competitive speeches, and present exhib- its.

Hosts for the convention are Byrd and Fair High Schools in Shreveport.

Questions And Answers Guide For Homemakers

By BETTY PEPIS

Q. — My bathroom has pink fixtures and pink tile floor. Walls are partly tiled with grey trim- med in pink. I would like to use a textured paper above the tile. Please give me a color for this and shower and window curtains.

A. — I think a textured paper would be an unwise choice. It is expensive and would not com- bine well with a tiled surface. If you want pattern use a pink on white small scale design. White cotton curtain trimmed with pink cotton ball fringe. Shower curtain in plain white and towels in shades of pink.

Q. — My living and dining rooms are divided by an arch. I would like to use a scenic paper on one wall. Sofa is rose beige. Would like suggestions for walls, draperies, lamps, accessories and rugs.

A. — Have your scenic in a sandalwood. Walls soft rose beige, with ceiling and draperies two shades lighter. Against this monochrome background use small splashes of color for sparkle. Dining chair seats in sky blue, and living room chairs in tone - on - tone print of light blue. Throw pillows, ashtrays and small vases should repeat the blue. Lamps in copper and brass with white shades.

Q. — Please help me with my son's bedroom. Walls are pale grey, woodwork and cabinet walls all are white. Furniture is silver grey wood with desk and chair black lacquer. I have bronze lamps, what shades should I use? I need curtains and bed- spread and would like to keep the room as cool as possible.

Give Him Chance To Confess Love Or Guilt

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and so is Clyde. We've been going steady for five months. Clyde tried out for the senior class play and got the lead. His leading lady is a very stacked girl. He is supposed to kiss her in the last act. I realize he has to, but my friends tell me that Clyde has been going over to this girl's house every night and they practice the last act.

Should I break up with him if he doesn't quit seeing this girl? The play isn't until June.

CLYDE'S STEADY: Tell Clyde you think maybe YOU'D like to break off because of the rumors you've heard. If the rumors are false and he is still all yours, he'll have an excellent opportu- nity to say so. But if you lose Clyde, you'll have salvaged your pride.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Very Few Workhorses In Each Organization

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I almost dropped my glasses in the coffee yesterday when I read your answer to the woman who was bothered by her husband's ex-wife. You said, "When you marry a divorced man you buy the total package." And you said she had to put up with it forever. Are you nuts?

I don't recall in MY marriage vows anything about putting up with a drunken ex-wife. My husband's first wife can't put her foot inside my home. When the kids are visiting here she doesn't even dare telephone them.

If the court can give custody to a trampy drunk, because the judge has the insane idea that kids are always better off with their mother, then let HER paddle her own canoe.—NO PATSY

Dear No Patsy: I heard from many women who screamed in unison that I must be out of my mind. But the advice stands. I don't give a continental who did what to whom or where the blame lies. When a family breaks up it's the kids who catch it in the neck every time. Any father worthy of the name has an obligation—or should I say privilege—to share in making important decisions which involve his kids.

The number two wife can bar her predecessor from her home and hang up on her when she phones if she likes, but no power on earth can break completely the link that binds a man to a woman who gave him children.

There may be no remaining love or respect but they share a common responsibility. This came to you think should be naddled by the ex usually has the kids in it.

Dear Ann: I'm a high school senior and in love with my English teacher. He's a middle-aged man, about 30, married and has two children. The worst part is he doesn't even know I exist. He calls me by my older sister's name half the time. She had him for English two years ago.

Don't tell me it's just infatuation. It's real love. Next to him these high school boys look like infants. It's revolting. I've always been a good student, especially in English, but I'll be lucky to get a C. When he calls on me I panic.

How will I be able to think straight in college next year when he's in my mind constantly? Please help me.—BIT

Dear Bit: I promise you'll recover from this illness just about the time you graduate. It's a common ailment. Almost every boy gets a mad crush on at least one teacher. And the gals—

Dear Ann: Since you are a Doctor of Problems perhaps you can prescribe a cure for this situation.

I'm a member of the honored profession of nursing. I belong to a club for nurses which does a terrific job of service. There are numerous members who like to be thought of as members of this society, but they refuse to do anything beyond paying dues.

They won't participate in the activities, attend meetings, go to conventions, accept committee assignments or do anything that requires work. Is it fair for them to ride the gravy train at the expense of the conscientious members?—M.W.G.

Dear M.W.G.: Every organization has its faithful and dedicated wheelhorses. They are few in number, noble in spirit, and incredibly energetic. And then—there are the other 95 per cent.

Since you have generously bestowed upon me the title Doctor of Problems, I must sadly inform you the prognosis is "no known cure."

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Why Use Methods Doomed To Failure

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERED

Here is a grandmother who needs the words of someone else to support her arguments in order to impress her daughters. She writes, "Dear Mrs. Eldred: I have five grandchildren under six and mealtime is a very old problem. I know you have answered this many times, but please, just once more. Your words, added to mine, will do the trick, but not just my words alone."

The tot in question is nearly three. The cereal is opened each morning, an individual box and the whole poured into his plate. It looks like an alarming amount to his 3-year-old eyes. Yet, "Eat your cereal or you'll get nothing else," is what he hears all the time. Wouldn't you agree that a half box would be enough to start and more if he wanted it?

"On alternate mornings there are eggs and on Sunday there are strips of bacon and the child asks eagerly for a piece. However, he doesn't get one until the egg is finished. He toys with the last few bites and still refuses to eat them and is sent upstairs crying because he can't have the bacon."

Now we have all had an unpleasant breakfast.

ANSWER

These are the sort of motherly methods which are doomed to failure. Unless mealtime is pleasant, the disagreeable aura hovers the food that is being eaten and makes it disagreeable, too.

By all means start with a box of cereal or two tablespoons, or any amount the child eats willingly and with relish. Then if he wants more he'll eat it.

As for the bacon, why make it a reward for eating the egg? This makes an egg seem something undesirable and the bacon something very special when both are just foods which ordinarily go together.

GOOD FOR HIM

If he doesn't eat the whole egg, then any part he does eat is good for him. If the egg isn't to be wasted, then scramble it and divide up the portions according to the various eater's capacity for them. The bacon should go along as a matter of course and probably make the egg taste that much better.

WHY do parents think such methods are successful? This mother is accomplishing nothing except to make everyone unhappy, the child miserable and denying him a food he would do well to have. Dissension, scolding, rewards, punishment, they should not be a part of mealtime. Anyone who is alert to the results of such practices comes to know this without being told.

Long, Narrow Kitchen Real Decorator Problem

By BETTY PEPIS

Kitchens, like many other rooms in the house, seem to have gone long and narrow and taken on the slim lines of a Pullman car. Because of the great emphasis on prettifying this room, a few rules on how to make such a shape attractive should interest homemakers either planning a new kitchen or redecorating an old one.

As with other areas where this problem occurs, it is well to remember that light and neutral colors push walls back visually, give the illusion of a widened room. In the same vein, shades of a single color, or the use of closely related rather than contrasting tones will emphasize this illusion of width.

And, also, as with other narrow passages in the home, some pattern or change of pace on one of the two walls will not only add decoration but will also contribute still more to the impressions of width. This could be a fool-the-eye painted mural or a wallpaper that introduces an outdoor vista on a single wall. Or it could be appropriate art work: a collection of menus from famous restaurants, perhaps.

Storage cabinets that line up flush with the equipment, eliminating the necessity of these large units jutting into the room not only look better but make working pleasanter and easier. Built-in oven and broiler and counter top units for top-of-the stove cooking make it simple to achieve this look today.

Floors, of course, can contribute to the illusion. Stripes, elongated tiles, brick - like patterns which travel across the narrow dimensions of the room are assets. The color cue, as with other materials should be taken from the wall. The ceiling should be matched to the floor.

Furniture, too, should be selected with care. A light legged table, rectangular rather than square or round will seem to slip into place and chairs should be of a similarly light scale without too much ornamentation or decoration on them.

Since the long, narrow kitchen generally has a single window at one end, the window treatment should be an easily adjustable one that doesn't interfere with light. Rather than curtains, which will partially interfere with daylight, roll-up shades of an appropriate material might be the solution. Keep them raised during the day to admit all possible light and lowered only at night for privacy.

MacArthur Set

For Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur will undergo surgery in the near future for a prostate condition, an aide said today. No date was announced.

The 80-year-old general has been in Lenox Hill Hospital since Jan. 2.

Doctors announced Feb. 5 he would undergo an operation after a period of preliminary treatment.

"The period of preparation is ending," Col. Gordon Barclay, his aide, said. "Surgery will be performed in the near future."

Exports

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—World exports hit an all time high of about 115 billion dollars last year, or 4 per cent more than the previous record set in 1957, the U.N. reports.

Roman Catholic Bishop Charged And Sentenced

TOKYO (AP) — Bishop James Edward Walsh, the last high foreign prelate of the Roman Catholic Church in mainland China, was sentenced Friday to 20 years in prison on charges of conspiring to overthrow the Communist regime.

Peiping radio reported the sentence against the ailing, 68-year-old American just a day after announcing that Bishop Ignatius Kung Pin-mei of Shanghai and 13 other Chinese Catholics had been sentenced to terms ranging from five years to life on espionage and subversion charges.

Bishop Walsh was named as their ringleader but no mention of any trial for him was made then. He had been head of the Central Catholic Bureau of Shanghai, closed by the Communists in 1951.

The bishop was once offered a chance to return home, but three years ago he told a British correspondent: "I could leave next week, but my work is here in Shanghai. My post is here."

Peiping radio said Bishop Walsh, arrested in 1958 on charges of "plotting to overthrow the New China," was convicted of subversive activities.

"The culprit admitted the mass of conclusive evidence of his crimes," the broadcast said.

This included "secret codes and a letter in secret writing used in carrying out counterrevolutionary activities."

The court, Peiping said, also accused him of being a U.S. spy and organizing "imperialist spies and counterrevolutionaries hidden in the Catholic Church of China in carrying out subversive criminal activities in a systematic way."

"The Catholic Church of China" presumably referred to the Peiping-sponsored church that has been denounced by the Vatican.

Bishop Walsh, a native of Cumberland, Md., and onetime father-general of the Maryknoll Order of priests in Ossining, N. Y., first went to China in 1918. He remained until the 1920s, then went back again in 1948.

The Communists took over the mainland shortly afterward but left Bishop Walsh alone until they began consolidating their hold in the early 1950s. Then a campaign of steady harassment began.

Nevertheless, the bishop refused an offer to go home in 1955, when arrangements were made for his repatriation along with 21 other Americans. He was under a mild form of house arrest as late as 1956 but was not permitted to continue his work openly.

On Oct. 19, 1958, he vanished from his Shanghai mission home. The Communists reported his arrest but gave no details. A year ago he was reported to have been moved from a Shanghai prison to a hospital. The nature of his illness was not given. At one time, his weight was reported down to 92 pounds, then back to 130.

His imprisonment brings to a total of five the number of Americans under sentence in Communist China. The others are imprisoned on espionage charges for terms ranging from 15 years to life.

Thomas Cardinal Tien, first and only Chinese prince of the Roman Catholic Church, said in a statement issued at Taipei, Formosa, prior to the news of Bishop Walsh's sentence: "We are consoled that Bishop Kung is so brave and has persevered through so many years of trial before his sentence."

Bishop King had been under arrest for 4½ years. Cardinal Tien said he will be "the Stepinac or Mindszenty of China." He referred to the late Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac of Yugoslavia and Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, both imprisoned for years by the Communists. Cardinal Mindszenty now is in asylum at the U. S. legation in Budapest.

The four other Americans serving prison sentences in Communist China are John T. Downey, New Britain, Conn.; Richard G. Pecteau, Lynn, Mass.; Robert E. McCann, Altadena, Calif.; and Hugh F. Redmond Jr., Yonkers, N. Y. Downey and Pecteau were U. S. Army civilian employees during the Korean War. The other two were businessmen arrested in Red China.

Salary

MOSCOW (AP)—The Communist party Central Committee and the Soviet Cabinet have decreed a 15 per cent salary increase beginning April 1 for teachers and administrators of night and correspondence secondary schools, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today. These schools are for workers and rural youths.

Former Detroit Tiger pitcher Stubby Overmire is managing the Durham Bulls of the Class B Carolina League.

150 Exhibits Featured At Science Fair

Twenty local schools are participating in the sixth Regional Science Fair, which began Friday at Northeast.

Some 150 exhibits have already been entered from high schools and grammar schools in this region. The exhibits have been set up in the north wing of the Administration Building and may be viewed by the public after judging.

Judging will take place Saturday at noon, and awards will be presented at 3 p.m. Saturday by Emmett J. Foster, professor of physics at Northeast and director of the fair.

PRESENTATION

Awards will be presented in the Amphitheater in the Administration Building.

Chairman of the judging committee, Edward C. Whately, said the exhibits will be judged on scientific thought, creative ability, thoroughness, clarity and dramatic value, and technical skill. To be eligible to enter, boys and girls had to win first or second places in their local science fairs.

Local schools participating in the fair are Ouachita High, Ouachita Junior High, Neville High, Lee Junior High, Thomas Jefferson Junior High, West Monroe High, West Monroe Junior High and Woodlawn of West Monroe.

Other schools are Bastrop High, Bastrop; Central Junior High, Bastrop; Clayton Elementary, Clayton; Delhi High; Ferriday Junior High; Grayson High; Rayville High; Tallulah High; Mangham High; Columbia High; Winnboro High; and Crowley High.

The contest is divided into junior, senior and elementary divisions. Scientific divisions are electronics, physics, chemistry, earth science, biology, social science, mathematics, biological sciences and physical sciences.

New Comedy Is Planned

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Audrey Meadows, popular "wife" of "Bus driver" Jackie Gleason in "The Honeymooners," is planning a comedy TV series of her own to be produced this fall in Hollywood.

"I've been offered a million series and have read a million since leaving the Gleason show," she said. "But, the thing we're looking for, and now think we've found, is something having the same degree of popular identification as 'Honeymooners.'"

"The show we're considering will have that identification," she said. "Of course the characters will be different."

By "identification," Miss Meadows was thinking about overall audience appeal that she, Gleason and "sewer worker" Art Carney had for millions of Americans.

"The mail I got from that show was very interesting," she said between rehearsals for Dinah Shore's Sunday night program over NBC-TV.

"You know, I received thousands of curtains and aprons just because the windows in 'Honeymooners' apartment were bare, and I used to wear an apron."

"And, because I was the wife of a bus driver on the program, I got all sorts of letters from other bus drivers wives. They used to complain about our not having a nice kitchen."

"Some would write saying they had refrigerators and dishwashers and their husbands made the same salary that Gleason the bus driver did," she recalled. "I used to write back and say we were spending our money decorating the bedroom."

"Some rich people have told me that arguments Jackie and I had on the show were typical of the ones they had in their own homes," she said.

Audrey said plans are being finalized to bring "Honeymooners" back to TV this year, but probably just for one show. And, even that depends on when she, Gleason and Carney will be available together.

Local Jaycees At Convention This Weekend

Over 300 Jaycees representing every state in the union will convene in Tulsa, Oklahoma this weekend for the annual Jaycee board of directors' national meeting.

Monroe Jaycees planning to attend are Joe Rabun, Dr. Ed Brown and Billy Hargiss. Rabun, Jaycee national director for north Louisiana and member of the national board, will take part in the formulation of the 1960-61 Jaycee program of work.

Brown will discuss the Louisiana Jaycees' resolution on the Forand Bill, which will be presented to the U. S. Jaycee board of directors for approval. This resolution originated in the Monroe chapter and is of national significance.

Memorial Service Set For 18 Victims

LOGAN, W. Va. (UPI) — A memorial service will be held here Tuesday for the 18 victims of the Holden 22 mine disaster.

All Logan business establishments have been asked to close and special services will be conducted at area schools.

The Logan Business Assn., in cooperation with the Logan Ministerial Assn. and school officials, is sponsoring the observance.

"Businessmen in Logan County knew many of the victims personally and the service was arranged so they could make some expression of their feelings to survivors," a spokesman said.

Funeral services were held Friday for three more of the victims. Service for five others are set for Saturday. The first three were buried Thursday.

Meanwhile, State Mines Director Crawford Wilson said there was no evidence that the trapped men panicked.

"All the evidence pointed to an orderly retreat to a place where the men thought they would be safe," he said.

The possibility that the men might have panicked was raised by the fact they were found in an unprotected section. They did not take refuge in any of three possible "barricade" areas where they probably would have survived during the week-long effort of rescuers to reach them.

They died of carbon monoxide poisoning the same day as a fire broke out, March 8, and trapped them in the mine.

Carole's Folks Arrange For Her Bail Fee

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The parents of Carole Tregoff Friday arranged for $25,000 bail for the pretty murder trial defendant and her attorneys went at once to the county jail to obtain her release.

James Tregoff, her father, and Gladys Tregoff, her stepmother, made the arrangements at a bail bondsman's office only half a block from the jail.

Superior Court ruled Thursday the pretty 23-year-old codefendant in the Finch murder case could be released on bail pending retrial of Miss Tregoff and her lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, on May 23 in the death of the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean, 36.

The jury in the first trial reached a hopeless deadlock after eight days of deliberation. The trial lasted more than three months.

Her attorneys said half a dozen newspapers, magazines and TV broadcasters offered to post the bail in return for rights to Miss Tregoff's exclusive story. They said the offers were turned down. They said their client would make no statements about the case pending retrial.

Try To Help

Alcoholics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More enlightened government agencies now are trying to rehabilitate alcoholic employees instead of firing them, an official said Friday.

The emerging federal policy regarding alcoholism as a treatable disease was outlined by Dr. Eugene R. Chapin, medical director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, at a conference sponsored by the Washington Council on Alcoholism.

It is similar to the policy already widely followed by private industry and endorsed by the American Medical Association and other leading health groups.

Dr. Chapin said no surveys have been made of the extent of alcoholism among federal employees. But he said government workers are a cross-section of the population and there is no reason to doubt that they suffer from alcoholism at about the same rate as other groups.

Mrs. Holloway Succumbs Here

Funeral services are scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday at Peters Funeral Home chapel here for Mrs. Ella Holloway, 89, who died Thursday in a local hospital.

Mrs. Holloway, of Rt. 1, West Monroe, had lived in that area for 33 years, and was a member of the Claiborne Baptist Church.

Services will be conducted by the Rev. Loy E. Baird and interment will be in the Claiborne Cemetery.

She is survived by one niece, Mrs. D. D. Dillingham, Shreveport. Pallbearers will be W. R. Lindsay, Lester Reese, Jimmy Allen, Joe Emery, Jack Nolan, and George Pylant.
